

The Ballbusting Arena 5: First Times

by Preun BB

Brian sat in his usual spot high above the arena, watching his girlfriend step into the ring for her weekly fight. He had one hand wrapped around his cock, and he slowly started to pump, imagining what was about to happen to the poor sap opposite her. Would she squeeze his fat balls into mush? Stomp them until he passed out? Maybe she'd—

"Hello!"

Three women abruptly interrupted his fantasy. Startled, and more than a little terrified, Brian jumped up from the plastic seat. His cock bobbed stiffly in front of him, a strand of precum precariously dripping from its tip.

"Oh, relax, pervert. You can keep pumping it. We've all seen you up here every week." The blonde girl smiled broadly. Brian tried not to stare at her chest, but it was a struggle. Seeing Emma's breasts up close was a lot different from watching her in the ring.

"Remember? My match against that guy with the huge dick a couple weeks ago? The Korean guy with all the tattoos?"

"Uh...Yeah. You did great."

She snickered. "So did you, stud."

Brian swallowed hard. Of course he remembered that match. Emma had ended it memorably, riding her opponent to orgasm while she worked his balls over beneath her. Predictably, she'd cum right as her opponent's last nut caved in. The moment she'd finished neutering him, she'd looked right up at Brian and winked, and Brian couldn't help but shoot his load on cue. Whitish streaks still spelled out where he'd tattooed the floor of his booth.

"Yeah, seriously, we don't mind if you rub one out," said the raven-haired woman, nodding down towards the arena. "It's your girlfriend down there, after all. We just figured you might enjoy some company."

"Uh, hi. I'm Brian." He held out his hand to shake hers. She scrunched her nose at the faintly moist offer.

"Vivian."

Emma grinned, and gave him a sticky hug. She'd obviously fought already today. Brian hoped the dampness was just sweat or cum, and not the sticky remains of her last opponent's manhood.

"A...and I'm Natalie," the last girl said, waving. Her voice was soft, seeming to emanate from somewhere in a cloud of brown curls. She was naked like the other two, just as the rules of the arena required. Slim as a reed, her small breasts were a stark contrast to Emma's melons. Still, Brian couldn't help but notice how rock-hard her cute pink nipples were.

"Liking the view?" Emma said, teasingly. Natalie met his eyes, and Brian realized how obviously he had been checking her out.

"Sorry! It's just...I still haven't gotten used to you all being naked."

"Oh my gosh, I'm just giving you shit. It's fine. Seriously, you can start jerking off again. Natalie would probably be flattered."

Natalie's cheeks went red. Brian felt a little awkward, but his hand drifted crotchward of its own accord.

"So...When are you going to sign up for a match, Brian?"

"Uh..."

"We've all been waiting. Vanessa talks about you in the locker room, you know," Emma went on. "Says she's wearing you down. One of these weeks, you'll really do it. And I'd love to be your match. You're a little smaller than I prefer, of course, but..."

"Lay off him," Vivian said. "You know if he signs up, it'll be to go against his girlfriend. And I'm sure Brian will sign up for a match when he's good and ready. Don't mind her, she just likes getting a rise out of people."

"Well, I can't argue with that. And I've certainly got a rise out of him," Emma said, eyes flicking below Brian's waist with a grin.

Her casual talk of castrating him had sent his cock pulsing hard. Brian let out an involuntary moan. It was too much. He finally gave in to his urges, reaching down and stroking himself slowly. The girls barely took note, aside from a giggle from Emma. He was embarrassed, but him rubbing one out was hardly the lewdest thing on display.

"But really, you two have a LOT in common." Emma winked at Natalie.

The three took the remaining empty seats next to Brian. Down in the ring, Vanessa and her opponent were squaring up. He was tall, broad-shouldered, with a six-pack and bulging neck muscles. His cock was as thick around as Brian's wrist and hung almost to his knees. Beneath, his balls swung pendulously, nearly the size of chicken eggs.

The man seemed to size up the lithe woman opposite him like she was a piece of meat. Brian had seen that look on men in the ring before. Like they assumed their victory was already sure, and they just had to decide on how they were going to enjoy their prize. Whatever sympathy Brian might've had for the poor bastard vanished with that smug smirk.

If this had been his first time watching a match, Brian might've been worried for his girlfriend. But women didn't lose in the arena. She flashed a smile at the crowd, and started what had become her usual pre-match routine.

Holding up her hands as if she was cradling two eggs, Vanessa closed her hands suddenly, fast enough to rupture the pair of imaginary gonads. Then she jammed a knee up hard between an imaginary opponent's legs. A stomp sent an echo through the arena, and she even threw a vicious headbutt at crotch level. The routine was a proven hit, and each pantomimed castration drew a roaring cheer from the crowd. She was letting them vote. It wasn't enough that Vanessa knew she would win; the man's castration was so assured, she'd turned it into a game for the crowd. Emma whooped in approval for the stomp, and even normally restrained Vivian cheered heartily for a knee to the balls.

Another spurt of precum slicked his cock, and Brian sped up the pace of his stroking.

Then he heard a matching moan. Two seats to the left of him, Natalie had a hand between her legs.

"Like I said," said Emma. "A lot in common."

"S...shut up," Natalie hissed, her voice a throaty whisper. She didn't stop touching herself.

"Really, you just need to step into the ring already, Natalie. You're such a pervert, but also kind of a prude."

"Don't be so hard on her. Some people just like watching," Vivian said.

"I don't understand why though. I mean, we all know she wants to do it." Emma said, and Natalie blushed even harder. "Every girl here wants to."

"It's scary," Natalie squeaked.

"It's totally safe, trust me. And there really is nothing in the world like feeling that pop. It's so fucking satisfying, especially with a nice big pair." Emma said. Brian's cock twitched at her words.

"Maybe she doesn't want her first pop to happen in the arena. It's a special moment, and she probably wants some privacy. I mean, was your first pop here?" Vivian said.

"No," Emma admitted. "That's true. It's good to get some real world practice in before putting on a performance."

"You mean...you two did...that to a guy outside the arena?" Brian asked, shrilly.

"Well, yeah. Almost nobody pops their first plum on the mat." Vivian said, matter-of-factly.

"The first testicle I broke was my college boyfriend's. Only did one of them, and boy do I regret it."

She paused. "Going only halfway, I mean. Definitely don't regret that pop. That asshole deserved everything he got."

"Ugh, men." said Emma. "I told you, you gotta try dating girls. Men don't understand loyalty."

"Yeah, he was such a scumbag. I got out of class early one day, went over to his dorm, and heard him fucking some slut inside. She was screaming like a banshee, begging him to fuck her and how big his cock was and blah blah blah. It was the fakest sounding shit I'd ever heard, but I'm sure he was enjoying himself. He was never the kind to care if I was faking." Her tone dipped sarcastically at that, and Vivian paused to take a breath and compose herself.

"I was so furious I almost interrupted them right then, but I managed to hold it inside until the next time we met up. I'd already gotten him to agree to let me kick him in the nuts, so the next time we met up, I told him I needed a really hard session of ballbusting. He was super reluctant to agree to it. I think he could tell how pissed I was, but I don't think he knew I knew."

"Eventually he caved, even though he knew something was up. I cuffed him, tied him up against the wall, and then I just kneed him over and over. The way we normally did sessions, he'd try to hold out as long as he could, then he'd say our safeword and we'd switch to normal sex. But I just kept going, knee after knee after knee." She emphasized the last word with a mimed knee to the groin, and Brian instinctively closed his legs.

"I remember the look on his face when he realized I wasn't stopping at a safe spot, that I was so far past caring about what he wanted. I didn't tell him I knew about his sidepiece, but he knew I knew when something gave way and I didn't stop."

At that, Brian's heart almost stopped. "And that's when it popped?"

"Not quite. Just crushed it a little bit. Salvageable, if I'd rushed him to the hospital right away, but definitely broken. That happens sometimes, if it's not a clean pop. But at the time I didn't know better. I felt around, and it was pretty obvious the insides were leaking out, so I figured there was no saving it."

Vivian shrugged. "Not that I would have anyway. So I just kept kneeing him, and I could feel pieces of his nut forced out each time I hit. Like it was slowly collapsing. Until finally —"

A piercing wail drifted up to them from the arena. All four peered down just in time to see Vanessa's heel crash down on her opponent's lumpy-looking left gonad, the sphere abruptly transforming into mush beneath. His wail shifted up an octave, and the crowd went wild. The man passed out against the ropes. Vanessa stepped back, letting the crowd admire her work.

"See? Like that, but with my knee." Vivian leaned back and sighed.

"I went a little crazy, honestly. I started screaming about her, asking him who it was. I remember I was like, if she was worth his ball. And he kept denying it, acting like he didn't know who I was talking about, like I was some kind of idiot. Like I hadn't heard him fucking her a few hours before."

"So I kept going, harder and harder, until there wasn't anything left. Until I was totally sure doctors couldn't stitch it back together into a working nut."

"Jesus." Brian realized he'd been holding his breath the whole time.

"Did you go for the other one while he was passed out, or did you wait for him to wake up?" Emma asked, then turned to Brian.

"It's more fun to pop a boy when they're awake. But it's easier when they're asleep," she explained helpfully.

"Uh...I see."

"No, I...I mean, I almost did. The first one was hot as fuck, getting to do what I'd fantasized about for so long, but I was too scared to go all the way. I didn't feel bad for him, I just...it was hard to bring myself to take it that far."

Emma leaned back with a grunt. "Lame."

"I know, I know. Nowadays, of course I'd neuter a man for a lot less than cheating. But at the time, I was so worried about ruining his life, or hurting him permanently."

"But you did hurt him permanently. You popped one of his balls, for god's sake. Nobody deserves that," said Brian.

Both of the girls looked at him, and his heart sank. He should've stayed quiet.

"It was just one nut. I needed him to feel as hurt as I did." Vivian's voice dripped with venom.

"But, you popped it."

She rolled her eyes. "You don't get it. Getting cheated on like that hurts a woman in a way you can never understand. It's like a dagger to the heart. The only way to get even is to hurt you in a way we can't understand. So, yeah. He did deserve it."

"But...how do you know he was cheating?" Brian blurted out, unable to stop himself.

"I heard him fucking someone, loud and clear—"

"Maybe it was porn. You...you said it sounded really fake, right?"

"I..." Vivian stared at him, then shut her mouth. "Hm. I guess...No. It had to be a real girl."

"Are you sure?"

She stared daggers at him, but Brian could see the words turning over in her head.

"Oh my god. You popped the poor guy's nut for watching porn?" Emma giggled. "That's hilarious!"

"At least I don't go around hooking up with random guys and nutting them. That's so fucked up. If I'm going to get with a guy, I have standards."

"Oh, right. Signing up for the arena every week is totally normal and not slutty, but having fun with guys I bring back to my place is fucked up." Emma rolled her eyes. "You're so hypocritical."

"Well, did you really like rupturing your first ball on like, some rando in a club? At least my first time was special, even if it was a mistake."

"That was my first double pop. I'd done guys halfway before that, obviously. My first time was my study buddy from Microbiology 101. And I'm pretty sure that was a lot more fun than going psycho on your boyfriend."

Emma sighed dreamily. "God I miss that nerd."

Brian desperately wanted to ask how it happened, but decided drawing more attention to himself was unwise.

"...how'd it happen?" Natalie's squeaky voice surprised all three of them. The shy girl was still touching herself, clearly as flustered as he was at Vivian's story.

"We sat next to each other in the back of the class. He was quiet, kind of nerdy, got really good grades and all that. Not that well hung, but that didn't matter to me. We never talked really, just formed this unspoken agreement. Every day, he'd give me his notes, and I'd play with him under his desk."

"It was fun because he never knew if I was going to be nice or mean, and we never talked about it. Sometimes, I squeezed his balls until he squirmed out of his desk, and sometimes I rubbed him off the whole class. Switching it up was fun, and he made the cutest faces either way. The way he squeaked when I was in a mean mood was just the best."

She smirked. "And when I was nice, he never lasted long. But that boy could cum a lot. Like, almost no refractory period. I could usually milk him twice in one period, if not more. He'd get pretty squirmy by the third time, but I could usually squeeze the last one out if I worked his head over pretty hard. He was really sensitive, it was the best, and his little grapes had a lot more juice than I'd thought. On nice days, by the time he left class, it looked like he'd spilled a milkshake in his lap."

"I remember this one time, I started squeezing his balls right as he answered a question from the professor, and he was trying so hard to stay quiet, but she kept asking for followup answers, and it was just...hilarious. He was trying so hard, but when I dug my thumb in he couldn't help himself."

Emma screwed her face up and put her hands between her legs as if she was clutching a pair of balls in pain.

"The...mitochondria...hnnngh...is...AAHHH...the...powerhouseofthecell!"

She punctuated each word with a high-pitched squeak, then mouthed a silent scream in exaggerated imitation. Then she burst into laughter.

"And that's when you popped it?" Natalie asked.

"Nah, that was way later, almost at the end of the semester. I was on this mean streak for a few weeks, and I'd been squeezing him in class every single day without letting him bust. I'd noticed the longer I went without jerking him off, the bigger his balls got, and I really wanted to feel an actual handful. Like I said, he was pretty small down there, and I think he'd stopped jerking off in the hopes that he'd get off during class. So if I didn't rub him off, they just got a little bit bigger every day."

"So, some weeks without relief, and he was really swollen. Of course, I wanted them even bigger, and feeling them swell just made me want to get even meaner. With his balls that large, I could really sink my thumbs in, and even kinda wiggle them around the inside of his nuts. That was fun."

"Sounds amazing," said Vivian.

"Mhm. Frankly, if he hadn't gotten fed up that day, I might've just stuck to squeezing for the rest of the semester and not let him cum at all. Would've loved to see how big they could get."

"Anyway, like I said, it'd been a couple weeks since he'd blown his load, and I was in a really mean mood that class. I was going really hard on him. At one point, when I was wiggling my thumb around inside, he actually passed out, mid lecture." Emma rolled her eyes. "That was annoying, because I had to pay attention to the lecture instead of relying on his notes."

"But then, when the end of class came around, he wouldn't give me his notes! He whined and bitched, acting like he needed to cum, and like I owed him a handjob just because I'd been using his nuts like stress balls."

"Of course, I didn't see it the same way. I mean, I don't mind jerking him off, and if he'd asked nicely maybe I would've responded better. But I couldn't let him just demand it. I started squeezing even harder, and really digging my nails into his testicles while twisting them around. I thought he'd give up pretty quick, but he was so stubborn. And suddenly, well, the pair I was squeezing was...not a pair anymore." She gestured vaguely. "It happened so fast I barely realized he'd just lost a gonad."

Vivian nodded sagely. "Yeah, when you pop a guy with blue balls, they go all at once. Like a full water balloon, just, SPLISH."

"Right. His ball had collapsed, and there was nothing left. Class had let out at that point, so nobody was around. I kept squeezing anyway, trying to find something intact, but it was totally gone. All he had left on one side of his sack were like, chunks. And goo."

She giggled. "It was pretty funny. Because like, you know, in the end he kind of got his wish..."

"He came?" Vivian guessed.

"Like a tsunami! Literally soaked through his jeans right as it popped, and kept going for so long. I had time to pack my whole bag before he finished. It was unreal. Of course I didn't know it at the time, but that's why I couldn't find any part of his nut intact. The poor guy had splattered it into his shorts! And afterwards, he just slumped over and blacked out. It was my first time seeing a guy literally cum his brains out."

"Or his ruptured testicle sent him into shock..."

"Sure, or that. Anyway, in the end he did get me to make him cum, which was pretty embarrassing at the time but funny in retrospect. Lucky guy. Oh, and I got his notes."

"See? Your first time you didn't go all the way either," Vivian said.

Emma shrugged. "He'd been super helpful all semester, and he did most of my homework and labs when I needed him to. So I did feel a little bad. If he hadn't been so nice to me, I probably would've juiced the other one too."

"So a guy has to do all your work for a semester just to be allowed to keep one of his babymakers? How kind." Brian barely kept the bitterness out of his voice.

"Well, yeah. I'm not a monster, you know. The only guys I nut all the way are total douchebags."

"Even the arena?"

"Uh, yeah. Anyone who signs up for a wrestling match where the prize is raping me doesn't deserve to keep his balls."

Brian shuddered. Listening to the girls had had predictable results, and his cock was throbbing, right on the edge of shooting and leaking precum like a faucet. To his left, Natalie started to shake, then moaned loudly. She didn't seem to see the need to hold off her own pleasure.

"You two are so cute," said Emma. "Brian, aren't you going to finish? I'm almost insulted. At least Natalie enjoyed it."

Brian grimaced. "Vanessa — nggh! — likes me to hold myself off until the end of the match." He let go of his cock at just the right second, moments before the pleasant warmth of his orgasm hit him. His member bobbed angrily, dribbling precum as the familiar ache of blueballs started to set in. Emma's story was pretty amazing.

Down in the ring, his beautiful girlfriend was making mincemeat of the remains of her opponent's left ball, standing on it with full weight until the chunks disintegrated fully. Then she stepped back and leaned against the ropes, giving the man time to recover from his very permanent loss. She glanced up at him, and he waved back, his hand shaky and webbed with precum. Even from way down there, he hoped she could tell he was holding back. Her approving smile told him she did.

Emma shrugged. "Anyway, that was back when I was a lot nicer. I'm not sure I'd have let him keep either ball if a guy was that pushy with me now."

"So, you...you both used to feel bad about castrating men, right? But now, you do the arena. What changed?"

"Getting cheated sure helped me get over that hangup," Vivian said.

"But you didn't neuter the guy who cheated on you."

"I wish I had."

"Yeah, but you didn't, because you felt bad. So something changed after that, right?"

"It was David. Your ex, remember?" said Emma. "He was really an eye-opener for you, Viv. For both of us, really."

"David?" Natalie's voice was shaky, and her cheeks were flushed. Her entire nude body was sheened in sweat. Brian bit his lip, jealous of what had clearly been an incredible orgasm.

Vivian smiled. "Yeah, David was the turning point."

"What's so special about this guy?" asked Brian.

"This guy I dated a couple years ago. Lost his balls before we started dating. I assume it was from an accident. He was so sensitive about it, so I never asked for the details."

Brian saw Natalie's jaw drop.

"You...you dated a eunuch?" he felt so weird saying that word out loud, and Vivian's grimace told him she felt the same.

"Yeah, but he hated that word. Of course everyone knew about his situation — I was very open with my friends about that kind of thing — but he still preferred to be called a man. The poor guy had huge ego problems when we first met. Surprisingly good in the sack, though."

"How did you...How did that work?" Brian tried not to think about the fact that the answers might be especially relevant to him if he stayed with Vanessa.

"It was...interesting. He could get it up, sometimes, but he could never cum and couldn't stay hard long enough for a real fuck. Which was fine, once I bought him a strapon and assuaged his ego enough to convince him to use it on me. The only thing missing was a pair of balls for me to bust."

"Couldn't he get fake ones?"

"That's just really not the same. Half the fun is how boys react to it. And you can't fake that pain convincingly."

"At least he ate pussy like a champ," said Emma.

"Yeah, he put in a lot of effort to make up for what he was missing between his legs. And since it was just, you know, with his tongue and the strapon, it didn't feel like cheating to loan him out to my single friends. Including Emma, obviously."

"And that was enough for you?" asked Brian.

"Oh, god no. I needed to bust someone so badly, and this was years before I found out about the arena. Luckily, he wasn't jealous. In fact, he encouraged me to find ways to fulfill needs he couldn't. He was super understanding. I think he was so embarrassed about not being a 'real' man he was just happy to have a girlfriend. So on weekends I'd go out to a club, grind on some guy, bring him back to a bathroom or something and just rail on him, and really bust his babymakers up bad. Then I could go home and get eaten out by my caring, obedient, nutless boyfriend. It was probably the best sex life I had."

"That's what really made me ok to neuter my first guy. Before that, I thought losing your balls was like, life ending for a guy. Like, on TV, it's always portrayed as sooo horrible, and sooo impossible for a dude with an empty sack to ever be happy again."

"Yeah, like it's some great fucking tragedy," chimed in Emma.

"Right, exactly. But David taught us that wasn't true. He just needed a little extra reassurance, and a little more experimentation in the bedroom. And he was so proud of himself when he made me cum, it was the cutest thing ever."

Emma smiled. "Oh my god. That first time he ate me out and I saw that look of satisfaction on his face was the night I went out and neutered my first guy. Guys never put in that much work before you pop them."

"Who was it? Your...your first one?" Natalie asked quietly.

Emma raised an eyebrow at the mousy girl. "Some douche in a club with way too many piercings. We were dancing, and he kept getting handsy. I told him to stop like three times, but he just wouldn't listen."

"So I kneed him till he had a sack full of mush, then left him curled up on the floor. It made me cum so hard I could barely walk."

Brian shuddered, equal parts jealous of that guy and terrified of Emma.

"But it's not like it was all perfect for David. You said he couldn't cum."

"Not true! Well, kinda. True, I couldn't make him cum like a normal guy, since his dick didn't really work right. But he still had his prostate. It took me a while to convince him to let me peg him, and he was super shy about putting stuff up his butt because he already felt, you know, really un-masculine. The first time I buttfucked an orgasm out of him, I swear that boy saw god. After that, he practically begged for it every time. He'd do anything to get milked."

"Even if it meant you invited an audience," Emma said, snickering.

"You watched?" Brian asked, aghast.

"Yeah, after Vivian took his virginity she had a bunch of us over to watch. Like I said, poor boy was so desperate he'd agree to anything, and eventually he got a lot less embarrassed being the center of attention. Eventually, he couldn't get enough of it." Emma giggled.

"You're focusing on the wrong thing. Yeah, it was fun for all us girls to get to watch him. But I think getting pegged helped him come to terms with his whole sexual identity, as a man without testicles. Once he got over his hangups on how he was 'supposed' to cum, he could focus on what worked for him, and for me. It was so freeing, for both of us."

"Wow." Brian said sarcastically. "What guy wouldn't want to get his balls chopped off? Sounds like the sure path to a healthy relationship."

"Exactly!" said Emma. "God, I miss him. He had the cutest smile."

Natalie's eyes went wide, but she didn't say anything. Brian eyed her curiously.

"Anyway. The arena's great, but there's still one fantasy I'd really like to try that's not possible in here." said Emma.

"What is it?" asked Brian, nervously.

"I want a guy to give me one willingly. Like, not acting, and not forced to, and not even just risking it in the arena for the chance at my pussy. I really want to take a nut from him with his complete consent. Something about actually convincing him to give them up for me...that's the fucking dream."

"Yeah." sighed Vivian.

"Have you? Convinced a guy?" asked Natalie.

"Nah, they always get scared and freak out. I don't ask until they're tied up, so of course I still get a pop, but they scream and thrash through the whole thing. I mean, it's fun, obviously. Any way you bust a nut is fun. I just want to try one time where it's not such a struggle."

"Too bad it's impossible. No guy would ever actually agree to losing a testicle. Even you won't, Brian, and it's your fetish."

He opened his mouth to respond, but Natalie spoke first.

"That's not true." Her voice was barely a whisper.

"Oh?" Emma asked. "And how would you know?"

Natalie's eyes were glued to the floor. "David. He was tall, right? Like, really tall and skinny? With really green eyes?"

Vivian nodded slowly.

"Yeah. We dated. Before. Senior year of high school." She swallowed hard. "He...he was my first. I mean, my only. But uh, yeah. My first."

Emma rolled her eyes at the frizzy-haired girl. "You mean, he took your virginity?"

Natalie glared at her. "You know what I mean."

Emma goggled. "S...seriously? I didn't think you had it in you to nut a guy."

"Well, I did." Natalie's voice rose in volume as she went on.

"He...he always wanted the weirdest things. In bed. Anal, and toys, and...ropes, and other stuff. He really liked being dominating, and humiliating me. I hated it, but he was such a sweet boyfriend outside of the bedroom, and I wanted to make him happy. He felt so guilty for asking for what he liked, though. He'd explain to me, so many times, the stuff he wants to do in bed isn't who he is as a person, and I...I accepted that. It helped me accept what I needed from him. And one day, he asked what I really wanted to try, and I just blurted it out. I asked him to...to..." She spoke fast, like she hated talking so much she wanted to get it over with as soon as possible. It seemed like she'd been waiting to tell her story for years.

"To let you pop his balls?" Emma said.

"Just one of them. I didn't think I could go farther than that, and I know he wouldn't have agreed to be all the way neutered. Even letting me go halfway was really too much to ask...but, I think he felt bad about what he asked me to do in bed, so he felt like he owed me. I think."

"I could tell, he was really hesitant. He took a long time to answer when I asked. I almost told him it was a joke, I was so nervous he was going to dump me on the spot for being a psycho bitch. I mean, who asks their boyfriend to give up part of their body like that?"

"But then he said he loved me more than anything, and if I had needs, he'd fulfill them. Even if it meant losing half his manhood. It made me so happy I almost cried."

"If you let him keep one of them...What happened to the other?"

Natalie stared at the ground, then took another deep breath.

"It was an accident. Well. Sort of. Not really."

"How? How'd it happen?" Emma was practically drooling.

"For his first ball, it was kinda normal. I mean, normal for ballbusting. I tied him down, kicked him in the nuts, gave punches, some pretty hard stomps, just warming up to the feeling of hurting him down there. Trying out all the things I'd seen in the videos."

"Anytime it got to be too much for him, I gave him a chance to back out. He almost took me up a couple of times, but then he'd get this look in his eyes, steel himself, and tell me to go on."

Natalie's eyes welled with tears. "I think if he'd actually backed out I would've been so disappointed. He knew I needed it."

"After a while, his balls had really swollen up. I'd done all the things I'd dreamt about for so long. Stomped, punched, kicked, kneed...everything. We both knew it was time. I put a hard piece of wood beneath him and got above him. I remember...I remember he was looking up at me, and he was crying, but he kept nodding, and smiling through the tears. It was so romantic, I couldn't believe he would actually let me pop one of his balls."

"I kissed him, and bent down and kissed the nut I was going to take, and thanked him, and he just smiled and nodded, I think he couldn't even talk through the pain and the fear, but he kept nodding, and even begged a little, just like I'd asked. It was...it was perfect. He was on the bed all tied up, with the board beneath him and tied to his legs so it wouldn't move. I jumped up, and I landed with all my weight—"

"Which one? Which one popped?" Emma interjected. Her left hand had snaked between her legs, and she was using her right to tweak her nipples gently. The two girls had swapped roles now.

"I don't know. I was too overwhelmed to know. I just landed, and I felt it give way, and I almost came right there, but it wasn't done yet, and then I twisted my whole body, as hard as I could, and then I felt it actually turn into mush. Just like I'd imagined. It felt really good, and it was so hot. Even though I...I didn't quite cum."

"And, after that...after the first one popped, he was crying and screaming and begging me to take him to the hospital. I...I remember his voice, it was so...he sounded so desperate. Even though I'd taken his first ball, he...he still loved me. He kept asking, asking me if he did it right, if I got what I wanted, even playing up the sexy parts about it, about how he'll never get it back and he's a weak little male who can't handle the pain of losing a nut and I'm a powerful beautiful goddess who took half his maleness away forever...I mean, he acted so perfect."

"But it wasn't enough." Vivian added knowingly. Natalie swallowed hard, and nodded.

"He was still tied up. His ball sack was, you know, all mushy on the one side, and still normal on the other, and something...something didn't feel right. I didn't feel finished. It was like...getting him to give me his ball was amazing. But...I wanted to take one. Without him agreeing. I realized that right after the first one popped."

Both Emma and Vivian were speechless, aside from Emma's moan.

"Right after his ball popped, the first one. I realized that. Even though he'd only agreed to one. I bent down and looked him in the eye, and grabbed the...the one that was still intact, and I think...I think he knew that I was going to go all the way." Natalie let out a shuddering sigh.

"When I started squeezing it, he got really loud, like really really desperate. I kept squeezing anyway, and suddenly his crying and begging stopped because I guess he gave up and that's when...that's when I came. Seeing him break like that. And then, right after he gave up, it popped in my hand."

"Feeling it in my hand was so different, like getting all the details of it breaking apart, but even better was knowing it was the only nut he had. Knowing that he loved me so much, so much to sacrifice almost anything, and that still wasn't enough for me, and I'd taken everything, taken it all from him, and I kept squeezing until there was nothing left, and I came so hard I—"

She was interrupted by a passionate gasp from Emma. The blonde girl collapsed forward, then bucked back, splaying her legs apart. One finger inside her pussy, the other rubbing her clit frantically as she finished her massive orgasm. Natalie stared, agape for a second, before finishing her story.

"Yeah. It was, uh. So good. But afterwards I felt terrible. I knew we had to break up, of course. But worse than that, I'd thought I'd ruined his life. I thought a boy without balls could never be happy."

"You did what you needed to do. Every one of us needs to feel that second pop sometimes," Vivian said soothingly.

"No, I didn't. I didn't need it. That's what I knew, deep down. Even while I was crushing it, I knew I could stop and let him keep it. He would've eaten me out, I could've touched myself, I could've cum without crushing it. I didn't need it at all."

Her voice rose steadily in pitch. "I wanted it. And I took what I wanted from him, and I can take it from any other boy I want to. But I don't want to pop some random guy I don't know. I don't even want to do it to guys who deserve it. It's like, it's too...it's too nice."

Popping a ball is TOO nice?, thought Brian.

"But it's not enough. I can't explain it, but if I crush a guy's ball...I want him to be sweet and loving, and caring. I guess it's like...a guy like that will never be hurt, not in the way that I want. An asshole will get his balls busted a hundred times in his life, but a nice guy...Nobody will hurt them. Nobody but me. And they let me. They let me go farther than any human would reasonably go to make me happy, and let me hurt them in ways no reasonable man would ever want. And then, I hurt them even more."

"That's what I need."

"Oh." Vivian was speechless. Emma was nonverbal too, for different reasons. She had started touching herself again.

"But I felt so bad, after. Once I'd cum, and you know...returned to earth. I'd just castrated the one man who loved me more than anyone ever would. I'd ruined his life, I thought. I was heartbroken. Not just because we had to break up, but because I thought he'd never find love again. But Vivian, you..." Natalie's eyes welled up.

"You taught me that he's ok. He'll be happy, even without his balls. It sounds like he's a better boyfriend now, even. Thank—"

Natalie was cut off by a piercing shriek. Vanessa had been playing defensively for a while, defending against her opponent's powerful swings and only occasionally jabbing a knee or fist into his half-filled scrotum. Her blows had taken their toll, and the low-hanging gonad was bruised and bulging, but still intact. But finally, she'd landed a grab, and was squeezing the plum-sized lump of manflesh between her fingers. The rising pitch of the man's squeal alerted the crowd to how close its demise was.

Brian resumed his pumping. Vanessa always wanted him to cum right as the match ended, no sooner or later. He had to pace himself carefully.

"Thank you." Natalie sighed. "Anyway, I don't know where I'll ever find a guy like that again, and I can't settle for anything less. So I come here to watch the matches, and imagine it's David down there. I miss having a boyfriend, but when you're as messed up as me, it can be hard to find a partner that really fills your needs."

"Hnngh!" Emma bucked forward again, eyes rolling back, legs twitching as she rode out her second climax. Finally, she took her hand off her clit at last and breathed a deep sigh, finally returning from her self-induced stupor.

"W...wow. Phew. That was intense. I thought you were lying at first but there's no way you were making all that up. You're crazy, girl."

"It was just one boy. You've castrated so many."

"Yeah, but you really cared about him. I barely know the names of the guys I ruin, even outside of the arena. Random guys I pick up at the club or the gym or in the arena aren't exactly prize specimens of humanity, so it's hard to feel too sorry for them. But David was actually a real quality guy. And he really loved you."

"Yeah." Natalie agreed. "He did. And I'll never have that again. Even if they loved me, what other guy would give up a nut for his girlfriend?"

"I would," Brian blurted out. "I mean, for Vanessa. We've talked about it. If I didn't ever sign up for the ring, and she really needed that from me, I'd definitely give it to her."

Natalie locked eyes with him.

"Just one of them, of course." He amended hastily.

"You...you'd really do that for her?" Natalie's voice was almost a whisper.

Brian nodded.

"See? There's other guys who can make you happy, Natalie. Just gotta find another kinky guy like Brian."

"Vanessa is so lucky," Vivian said under her breath. Brian sighed.

"I really love her. And I've always had a fantasy about losing one of them. I mean, at least, when I'm horny, I always feel like—AH!" Brian said, gasping. He hadn't let up his pumping through the whole conversation, although keeping himself hard and on the edge was difficult while talking.

He was getting really close now. In the ring, Vanessa had her opponent pinned, putting all her weight on his shoulders as she slammed knee after knee into his crotch. Her breasts pressed against him, their bodies glued together by sweat. Beneath her, his eyes bulged out, terrified, every knee bringing a wet crunching squelch, so close to that final detonation. Until finally—

His fat testicle collapsed, and the brawny man let out a shriek thick with pain and despair. Brian pushed himself over the edge just in time to see Vanessa stand up and give him one final stomp, splattering the man's load onto his belly at the same time Brian started to shoot. He painted the handrail in front of him with cum as his girlfriend ground her heel against the pelvic bone, squishing what little remained of her victim's testicles.

Brian focused on the vision of that wet detonation beneath his beautiful, muscular girlfriend's knee, an impressive manhood replaced with so much sterile mush—

—And then he closed his eyes, and he was staring up at Natalie, her reed-thin leg hovering over his sack, and he was David, realizing what was about to happen, what he'd agreed to give her, both of his balls totally destroyed, irreparably—

—And Brian's cock twitched and spattered another belt of cum, somehow even larger than the first. White goo arced off the balcony onto the hair of some unlucky spectators below.

Finally, he finished. He turned and blushed, too exhausted to speak, but instinctively he looked over at Natalie. She was staring between his legs, both eyebrows raised.

Emma gave him a dainty golf clap. "Impressive."

"Um...yeah, wow. Nice. Nice, uh, cum," Natalie said.

"T...thanks." Brian wasn't used to an audience, but he found he didn't mind Natalie's awkward compliment. In fact, he quite liked it.

"You watch Vanessa every week?"

"Yeah, she loves it when I, you know..." He gestured unnecessarily to the streaks of cum everywhere. "Enjoy myself."

"Yeah I can see why," said Natalie.

"Well, I'm up next. Emma, want to come with me to the locker room?"

"But I just went last match—"

"Emma." Vivian gave the oblivious blonde girl a meaningful look.

"Er, right. You two have fun." Emma took the hint and left with Vivian, leaving Brian and Natalie alone.

"So." Brian cleared his throat.

"Yeah. Um. Nice match, right?"

"Yeah, Vanessa always pulls it off. Never loses a fight."

"You do too, right?"

"Huh?"

"Uh, always pull it off." She made a slow jerking motion, then blushed.

"Oh, right. Sorry, haha, kind of a mess." Now that he'd cum, he felt a lot more awkward. His second load of the day was starting to dry all over himself.

"I don't mind. And, um...if you wanted to sign up, I'd sign up too. I know you're with Vanessa, but...I'd really really love to fight you in the ring. I wouldn't go all the way, I promise, I'd only do one. If you let me. Of course."

"Right. Well, uh. I think Vanessa would be really pissed if I let another girl take a nut. Even if I let her take my last one—"

"You'd do that?!" Natalie almost jumped out of her seat.

"—God no, but even if I did, she'd be mad that I gave someone else a chance before her. So..."

"Right. Of course." Natalie looked down. "But if you did, well...I'd sign up. Just for you. Not for the other guys."

"Oh. Thanks." Brian blushed. "That's...that's really flattering, actually. I mean it. If I wasn't with Vanessa, I'd do it too."

"Really? You're not just saying that?"

"Really. Hypothetically, anyway."

"As long as you promise to only pop one of them. You'd promise that, right?"

Natalie allowed herself the most adorable little smirk.

"Of course. Hypothetically."

Brian couldn't help but smile. It didn't matter that they both knew she was lying. He found himself strangely drawn to the idea.

Dangerously so. He was with Vanessa. He was lucky to be with her, he reminded himself. And even thinking about other women could be risky, with a girlfriend like her.

"Well, bye. Hope to see you next time. Even if you don't fight." Natalie glanced at the cum-streaked floor. "Vanessa is...really just so lucky."

Then she scampered out of the booth, her pale round buttocks disappearing just as Vanessa made her way up from the ring.

"Wow. Liked the fight today, huh?" she said, also eying her boyfriend's impressive new decoration to their booth.

"Y...yeah. It was a lot of fun."

"I saw the girls up here with you. I don't mind them watching, but this better not be from Emma 'helping' you out. She can be a little handsy, but just because you're in the arena doesn't mean our relationship is 'open'. If you let her touch you—"

"No! I swear. I just...just really liked the fight."

Vanessa smiled. "It was a tough one. I'm glad you had fun."

Brian sighed. If she knew who was on his mind when he came, she wouldn't have been so forgiving. He still couldn't stop thinking about Natalie.

Until next time
