

Andrea and Lucas: Part 2

by Preun BB

CONTENTS

Andrea and Lucas: Part 2

- 1. Chapter 8: Cherry Pop!
- 2. Chapter 9: Beat Drop
- 3. Chapter 10: Crescendo

Chapter 8: Cherry Pop!

"So...What kind of band is this?"

"New wave feminist punkdustrial! How're the new clothes fitting you?" Andrea led her boyfriend in by the hand. The new clothes she'd made him buy made him actually look like he fit in with the punk crowd; the band T-shirt outlined his surprisingly jacked frame, and his tight black jeans outlined every detail of his gorgeous genitalia. She grinned as she ogled him, his balls packed so tightly into the thin, undersized pants she could see his veins pulsing through the fabric in the dim light of the concert hall. Lucas rolled his eyes.

"They make my balls ache, just a little bit, all the time, like you're constantly squeezing them. I assumed that was the point?"

"Hell yeah." She swatted his shrinkwrapped manhood, and caught him in a kiss as he hunched over.

"Now c'mon. Let me cuff you and we can head inside."

"What?"

She didn't bother explaining. Andrea just slipped her ownership cuffs out of her bag, snapping one end onto his wrist and the other onto hers. The long, thin line between them, thick metal wire wrapped in rubber, was flexible, but surprisingly strong.

"Andrea...What is this?"

"Trust me, it's for your own good. You don't want to go into a Cherry Pop! Concert unowned."

"Un...owned."

"Seriously, trust me. I do own you, don't I?"

He sighed, and Andrea saw the resistance leave his eyes. "Of course, Andrea."

They headed inside. The ticket checker at the front desk smiled broadly when Lucas stepped into her sight, his balls protruding like he was practically offering them to her, but when she saw the ownership cuff between the two her smile faded.

Lucas handed the tickets over and she waved them in, looking annoyed. "What was that?"

Andrea rolled her eyes and began to explain to her little nerd. "Cherry Pop! Concerts always have this kind of, uh...free roaming, improvisational, involuntary mosh pit. Or, uh. Mush pit, as they call it."

"...And why do they call it that, Andrea?" He had a sick feeling he already knew.

"...Any girl can crush any unowned testicles whenever she wants, however she wants. But if a guy is owned, only his owner can break his balls. If you'd been single, she could've kneed you in your gonads, or kicked you hard enough to make you puke, or even like, twisted your nuts around until they died off, if she wanted. It's probably why she works the front desk."

"Oh," Lucas said faintly. He'd turned even paler than usual.

"It's a staple of the New wave feminist punkdustrial genre. You know, like...inverting the patriarchy, and like, prioritizing female empowerment and agency. It's a whole political thing, I guess." She shrugged. "Plus, their fans are 90% women and it's just fucking fun to crush balls to the beat."

"Why would a guy come here unowned? Why would a guy come here at all?"

"Well, some get dragged here by their beautiful goddess of a girlfriend." Lucas nodded, conceding to that. She flicked his right nut, hard, eliciting a tiny squeak from him.

"Some guys enjoy getting their gonads smashed by random punk girls," she said, gently moving his hands away from his crotch so she could swat his left gonad. "I'm sure you understand those ones too, if you were a little more single." He coughed in agreement.

"And some are casual fans attending their first concert, with no idea what the vibe is like," she grinned. "Like that guy, I think."

Behind them, a single man had approached the ticket booth, smiling back at the usher. She took his ticket, and processed it behind the counter while he scrolled on his phone. While he was still distracted, she pulled her leg back and booted her pointy toe directly into his crotch. She lifted him a good eight inches off the ground, barely landing before she stepped forward for a brutal follow-up knee. She let the man go, and he fell to the ground on all fours, stammering in confusion.

He crawled forward to the venue entrance, barely able to get to his knees and look up at Andrea. "What the fuck...What is going on...Is this..." His eyes regained some focus. "Is this the concert?"

"Yeah, bro. First Pop! Show?" He nodded shakily.

She leaned over in sympathy, covering her cleavage so this guy who wasn't her boyfriend couldn't get an unearned view. "Come on in, I'll explain how it works." She took his uncuffed hand in hers and led the gasping, confused man inside.

First-timers were her favorites, by far. Kicking one of the perverts who actually enjoyed it always felt really icky to her; she didn't want to give any pleasure to some guy she didn't know, and half the time they tried some gross bullshit to rile a girl up if they weren't getting the nutpain they had come for. It was the really innocent ones, the ones who had no idea what they were signing up for by showing up to a Pop! show without doing their research, that made the shows so exciting.

She'd never had a serious enough boyfriend to take to a show as an owner; she usually just free-roamed the floor, finding the most nervous-looking guys hiding in a corner and introducing them suddenly and violently to her boot, knee, or hand.

Of course, she'd never pop an innocent guy. As much as she enjoyed both temporarily bruising and permanently shattering a manhood, she had the standards that her self-obsessed roommate didn't. She only allowed herself the sex-changing indulgence of a halfstration or castration on rapists, gropers, and other assholes who truly deserved it. With lax security and a panoply of grungy assholes, it was easy to find someone who deserved a full neutering at a Pop! show.

Once the doors closed behind them, she smiled down at the hunched man. "By the way, once you're in a Pop! Show, you can't leave."

"What do you mean?"

"It's no ins and outs. But like, also no outs."

Lucas's eyes widened. "You didn't mention that."

"Relax, nerd, you'll be safe. You're with me." She turned to the still-confused solo guy.

"What's your name, honey?"

"Sunni."

"Cute. I'm Andrea, and this is my boybitch Lucas." She pulled him forward by her cord.

"So, the way this works — as long as you don't have a cuff like me and him, it'll be an open market on your balls. Any girl, anywhere in the venue, at any time, is going to do what she wants to your manhood. I'd advise you start to get used to that feeling of random, excruciating nutpain being inflicted on you for no reason. Girls will squeeze them while you're waiting for the bathroom. They will uppercut you in the crotch when you're trying to get a drink. They might grind a knee or a heel into your gonads when the beat is about to drop, or go absolutely feral on them once it actually does."

"Near the end of the night, as drinks get drunk and the band gets to the real hits, the mush pit starts to go really hard, and things can get really intense. It's beautiful, and it's so much fun, but it can be really painful or even dangerous for the guys that get targeted the worst."

Sunni stared up at her.

"There's an onsite medical tent if one or both of them get turned to mush, or something gets badly twisted down there. My sister works there, and she is seriously one of the best ball doctors around -- if she snips anything off, she'll make damned sure there's no way to save it first. I know you've heard of those other hospitals and research facilities that aren't as careful; I promise, she really will try her best to save what she possibly can. And if she can't save them, she'll at least let you give a sperm sample before she empties your sack."

"What the fuck are you talking about? I'm just here for...the band. I just like their music. Uh. Crushed to Bits. The Leafless Tree. Shredded Seed. That...that was a great album. Oh god," He babbled, the horror of what he'd entered starting to set in as he realized how obvious the track names were. "I need to leave. Now."

"No, dude. I told you." She jerked her thumb back. "Doors are locked from the outside."

"Now, just one last piece of advice: don't try to defend yourself, and definitely don't fight back — you'll only draw a bigger target on your sack. Girls here are mostly going to try to do the most damage to the guys that piss them off, so if you can act submissive and helpful enough, you might get out of here with a nut intact, okay? Ideally, you'll be able to convince another single girl to own you for the evening — that's what the cuff is for — but most single girls come here so they can let loose, and being tethered to a nut slave for the whole evening is NOT their vibe."

"Ultimately, there are really too many men at the concert for the girls to neuter every single one of you, so just do your best to avoid notice and hope for herd immunity as we take out the assholes that really deserve it."

"Are you...is this a joke? Are you joking?" He turned to look at Lucas. "Is she for real, dude?"

"I think so." Lucas winced. "Try your best out there. Do what she says. I always do."

"Okay." Sunni took a deep breath. "I don't...This is so...This is so fucked. I guess...Thanks for letting me know. It's good to meet someone sane here before...all that weird sex BDSM stuff begins. God, my balls still hurt. That bitch at the front kicked really fucking hard. I think she bruised something." He hunched over, his hands on his thighs as he panted for breath.

Andrea was sure it was bruised; more specifically, from the subtle details of the way he hobbled, and the exact angle he held his torso relative to his damaged goods, and from how hard the girl had hit him, and her twenty-four years of precisely inflicting and observing such injuries, she could tell exactly what was damaged without even having to look at his testicles.

She judged he had a 1 millimeter deep black bruise on the large, flat right side of his left testicle, far enough away from his epididymis to do no serious damage to his sperm count. It went deep, nearly to the core of his nut; her pointed tip must have started the injury, and her brutal knee had deepened it into something much worse. Still, it was really not so bad of a bruise, all things considered. This would make her goal easier; she didn't want to pop the man, after all. He hadn't done anything wrong yet. But this was a Cherry Pop! concert, and there were rules, and she'd come here for this exact opportunity.

"This is good advice. And thanks for not, uh...kicking my nuts, I guess. I guess you're just going to kick his balls tonight, right? And he'll be safe from the other girls" Sunni looked jealously at Lucas.

Andrea sighed. "That's partially right. Lucas is certainly safe for the night, but...I'm not that exclusive."

She pulled her foot back and slammed it up into the man's crotch, doing her best to expand on the damage the usher had caused. Andrea was an expert on testicular damage, and could tell exactly where his last ballbusting had left the tiny, purple bruise; aiming for the same square millimeter of damaged nutflesh, she kicked as hard as she possibly could, driving the pointed heel of her boot into the softened, cracking shell. She ran forward when he fell over, dragging Lucas behind her as she punted the poor man again, this time in his other healthy nut, forming a new bruise of her own. Once again, the injury was nothing that'd take him out of the gene pool; she just wanted to give him a cute little permanent souvenir from his first Pop! show.

He collapsed to the floor, gibbering incoherently as he clutched his now equally bruised testes. His legs bicycled below him, spasming randomly with his pain.

"Did you...pop him?" Lucas asked hesitantly.

She rolled her eyes. "Nah, just bruised him a little. I'm not Izzie, Lucas. I'm not going to intentionally neuter a guy for no reason." She poked Sunni's ballsack with her toe to make sure she was telling the truth; the two soft, solid bulges confirmed that he was still fully equipped with his manhood.

She led her nerd away from the mewling man she'd left on the floor. It was a great bust; she had really felt his nuts crunch deliciously right up against his pelvis, right on the verge of causing something to break irreparably. She silently wished the guy the best of luck; his other ballbusters this evening likely wouldn't be as careful and precise as her.

Tamara looked around the disorganized tent, her meager set of tools and supplies still enough to clutter the small workspace. When her boss had ordered her to set up on site instead of waiting for the concert goers to tie up every ambulance in the county with testicular trauma, she eagerly agreed; besides the traffic issue, shaving even a few minutes off treatment time greatly improved the chance she could save a man's balls. She went through her checklist anyway, cataloguing her tools.

Scalpels: check. Suturing kits: check. Bulk ice bags: check. Elastrator with a sufficient supply of bands: check. Burdizzo: check. Mini freezer for emergency last-minute sperm samples: check. Surgical restraints and stirrups: check, one for every bed.

Anesthesia...She winced at the extra large bottle of paracetamol. It'd have to do. Check.

Assistant. Check...unfortunately. Somehow, Yvette still wasn't prepared for their shift; she was struggling to get into her scrubs, her stethoscope lying messily on a random nearby table. Tamara sighed and went over to help.

"Ugh, thanks." Tamara helped her pull her top over her ample and surprisingly braless chest. "All this stuff is always so confusing."

"...they're standard scrubs, Yvette." Tamara hadn't worked with this particular intern before, but had immediately gotten the impression she was more than a little inexperienced. "Is this your first internship?"

"Oh, definitely not!" The college girl beamed. "I've done like, a dozen. Or...started a dozen." She winced. "They haven't always worked out for me, but my mom has been great at lining up new opportunities to learn when one falls through!"

Tamara frowned. She'd never heard of anyone going through more than two or three internships before finishing med school; their county did have especially lax rules around qualifications for urologists (given their insanely high demand; number one in the country, at nearly 40 times the median rate, hence why Tamara had to shift to cover the surgical ward, despite specializing in pathology). She knew some students shopped around for easier internships that were a better fit for them, but over five was a red flag. Over ten was...unheard of.

"You said your mom had...connections?"

"Yup! She's paying for my school."

Tamara didn't understand the non sequitur. "Oh. So...you don't have student loans?"

"Ha, of course not! But I mean, she's paying for the school. Like, the whole thing." Tamara stared blankly.

"The O'Darrigan wing of the math building? And the new stadium? And...all the new med school buildings?"

Tamara's eyes widened, realizing she was talking to the nepo-est of nepo babies.

"You're Yvette O'Darrigan? Like, Over Easy CEO Zennia O'Darrigan's daughter, Yvette O'Darrigan?"

"Yup! But I don't want it to be about my mom, or her company or her trillion dollars or anything like that. I just want to learn. I know, for a fact, in my heart, that testicular surgery has always been my calling - I don't have it all figured out yet, but mom said you're the best to learn from."

Tamara sighed. "You heard right. But first lesson here: the best surgery is the one you never have to perform. Most guys are incompetent at assessing their own injuries. They'll scream bloody murder that they've had a ball popped, or been neutered, or some other crazy exaggeration and when you actually inspect them, it'll just be some heavy bruising, or an easily repaired torsion or something."

"It's important to ignore their screams and actually assess how bad the damage is as an objective medical professional. A lot of times, we can avoid cutting them open at all. Simple scrotal manipulations and a good ice pack can go a long way to saving a ball, even for some severe-looking injuries."

"Oh." Yvette sounded disappointed. "So...we won't be doing surgery tonight?"

"I didn't say that. We just have to use it only when appropriate, and balance the resources we have. We'll triage our patients appropriately, and give each of them as much healing as we can reasonably afford. If they don't need more than that, they won't get more than that."

"On the other hand, some will come to us with nothing we can salvage between their legs; these cases will be really sad, but we can't focus on how devastating their loss is while we have viable testes we can save. We triage the eunuchs and near-eunuchs lower than the fully intact men if it comes down to it, and those get prioritized below the partially intact ones we can still save."

"And if we have to choose between laboriously repairing a full manhood, and quickly stitching up a single testicle, we always prioritize saving at least one ball per man; if one guy has to lose his first ball so another can keep his last, that's the more ethical choice for us. Men won't like to hear it, but they really can get by with just one."

"Just...use your intuition, and common sense, and be prepared to think outside the box. Not everything we do here is going to be in your medical textbook." Tamara wondered if the privileged kid had ever had to crack open a textbook, or if mom just bought her grades directly from the professors.

"Okay! Wow, you're so professional and serious. I'm really excited to learn from you! Um... some quick questions though."

"Yes?"

"What's a 'eunuch'? And a 'torsion'? And 'triage'?"

Tamara sighed deeply. It was going to be a long shift.

Back on the venue floor, Andrea was getting into the swing of the concert. The band played on stage, the multicolor-haired women screaming through another epic banger of a track.

Kick him till he cries

Kick him till they're mush

Stomp his last ball till it dies

Don't give up at the first crunch!

Andrea always thought the lyrics were a little on the nose, but the tune was catchy as fuck.

She gyrated against her boyfriend's cock, which was now throbbing hard, nearly tearing right through the far too tight jeans she'd packed him into. Meanwhile, she taught him the finer points of making out while dancing. Her lips were locked to his, her tongue darting against his as she teased his cock. She could feel every delicious quiver that went through him, and he'd begun subconsciously grinding against her leg like a good little slut. When they pulled up for air, she looked around and drank in the collage of testicular violence of a good Pop! show.

One unlucky, unowned guy had two young women working together, in front of and behind him. The one behind would hold him up, arms locked behind his back, while the other unleashed a brutal kick to his crotch. When he fell to the ground, the mocking, pale black-haired woman in front of him would lift him by his armpits and hold his legs apart so her blonde companion could get in a kick of her own. The women were cuffed to each other; Andrea hoped the man would have something intact between his legs once the sapphic lovers were done with him. But she strongly doubted it, based on the increasingly loud squicks his manhood was emitting and snippets of the girls' mocking words.

"...Did you plan on losing your virginity? You'll have to kiss that dream goodbye when we're done. No more boners, no more sex, no more cumming."

In another corner, what initially appeared to be another lesbian couple was actually a man and a woman cuffed together. It was hard to tell, given his girlish squeaks and choice of clothing, but the small feminine ballsack hanging well below his ultrashort miniskirt told the truth of his sex. His girlfriend was squeezing his package tightly, and as Andrea watched, she slowly rotated it around, each twist of his ball cords against each other taking her slightly more pressure than the last. Each crunching twist took another inch away from his slack, stretched nutcords, forcing his balls to inch up closer and closer as she thoughtlessly gave him an incredibly bad case of testicular torsion.

Andrea drove her tongue back down her lover's throat. Lucas's hand moved questioningly upward; she answered the question by grabbing it and forcefully moving it to her boob, wordlessly instructing him to pinch her nipple. He moaned appreciatively, not stopping their kiss to speak.

The desperate cries and wet crunches throughout the room had left her randy enough to need more than just a little nipple stimulation, though. She grabbed his cuffed hand that encircled her waist and moved it between her thighs, pressing it into her needy clit.

Girl drool gushed between his fingers as he pressed hard into the little button, circling counterclockwise just like she had taught him. His other hand grabbed her left buttcheek and pinched lasciviously, as he twiddled her nipple and fingered her—

Wait.

That was too many hands.

Without another thought, she brought her leather heel upwards and back as hard as she could. The groper behind her let out a tortured oof. She repeated it, again and again, keeping Lucas focused on her pleasure as she felt the testicle beneath her heel begin to soften and crack apart. She would've stopped if he'd let go, and maybe left the asshole with two functional testes. But said asshole made the baffling choice to keep his hold on her massive ass, although his strength was weakening with each percussive donkey kick. Subconsciously, she kept every kick synchronized with the pulsing beat of the band onstage.

"KICK. STOMP. KNEE. REPEAT."

"KICK. STOMP. KNEE. REPEAT."

"CRUNCH. POP. SQUICK. DEFEAT."

"LEAVE. HIM NEUTERED. IN. THE STREET."

Her wonderful subby nerd didn't even stop fingering her as her thigh clenched with each powerful back kick. She wondered if he even noticed the halfstration she was inflicting; he seemed fully concentrated on his job at hand.

Lucas's timing was inadvertently perfect; he pressed into her clit just a little harder right as she felt the soft orb collapse beneath her heel. She flushed and moaned as her boyfriend kept rubbing her, pushing her up to and well past her climax. Behind her, she kept her heel lifted up, pressing it into the mushiness she'd just created in the scrotum behind her, making sure every bit of testicle was broken badly enough that even her sister couldn't repair it.

"KICK. STOMP. KNEE. AGAIN."

"KICK. STOMP. KNEE. AGAIN."

"CRACK. SNAP. END. HIS BLOOD-LINE."

"LEAVE. HIM STERILE. FOREVER, CRYING."

A hard finger between her legs, and a halfstrated man against her heel – it was heaven. Andrea screamed into her boyfriend's mouth through her second climax, grabbing his hand forcefully and pressing it against her, slipping his middle finger up and inside to reach her g-spot while his thumb continued to stimulate her clit. She rode his hand to an intense aftershock, and then another, mini orgasms piling up on top of each other as she enjoyed what she'd just taken from the pervert behind.

When she pulled back from him, her face adorned with a sheen of sweat and a small open-mouthed smile, Lucas had a smug grin on his face.

"That's for jerking me off on the dance floor on our second date."

She laughed. "Yeah, you really got me back there. Great revenge, I'm so defeated. Let's get some drinks. I think they've got your 'favorite' scotch here. Let me just chat with this guy for a second." She turned to the skinny loser who had assaulted her. Bending over, she got right up next to his ear.

"What's your name, stud?"

"Grey...Greyson, ma'am."

"Was it worth it, Greyson?"

He was moaning, tears streaking his cheeks. His hands were clutched between his legs, and Andrea recognized the subtle motion of his left one: he was rolling his recently half-emptied ballsack around, looking for the precious organ she'd just taken from him, confused and in shock from the pain and torture of a quickly ruptured testicle.

"GOD yes."

But his other hand...was also making a familiar motion. A small, but repetitive one. Up and down. Very quickly. And despite his obvious excruciation, he was smiling a little. No, gasping. He started to convulse, and Andrea recognized the extinction pulse he was encouraging out of his remaining testicle.

Greyson had enjoyed it. She drew back in disgust.

"Yes. God yes, it was worth it. Thank you so much for taking my ball, ma'am. Could you... be so kind as to sit on my face, Goddess? Dommy mommy? Please please oh god fucking—" He started to buck, and a dark stain spread across his zipper as his eyes rolled back into his head. "GOD it hurts so good. Thank you thank you thank youuuu!"

The nut popping kinksters at these shows were just the fucking worst. "Ugh. Go to the medical tent when you're done cumming, unless you want me to take the other one. That is so gross."

"YES, PLEASE!"

"No. Ew. Just...Go."

Lucas frowned as they headed to the bar. "Did you...know that guy?"

"No. I mean...I know his type. But no." She sighed at his confusion.

"I just killed one of his balls, okay? Trust me, he deserved it; it's not a big deal. Now come on. I don't want to be sober for this next song."

Tamara handed another ice pack and a couple pills to her most recent patient. The boy hobbled out of the medical tent, grateful for the temporary reprieve but clearly dreading his return to the dance floor.

It was an hour into the show, and they hadn't had anything worse than some severe bruising to deal with. Tamara was grateful for that; she doubted Yvette could handle anything more medically complex than handing out ice and Tylenol. But she knew her luck wouldn't last long.

Right on cue, three guys hobbled in, each with their testicles in a different state of disarray. The femboy, complete with a full face of makeup and lewdly inappropriate miniskirt, was still tethered to his owner, who slipped her cuff off to leave her boytoy unprotected. His scrotum was a tangled mess beneath his girly clothes. Next to him, a very confused-looking man was clutching a bloated scrotum poking out of his fly. Between his hands, Tamara could see the two identical black bruises on each testicle, along with a webbing across their surface of other less severe bruises. And on the far right was a scrotum with the unmistakable asymmetry of a popped testicle.

Tamara was truly her sister's twin; with a lifetime of practice, she needed little more than a glance to precisely assess common testicular injuries like these three. It's why she'd gone into this career in the first place; her natural testicular savantry made her outcompete her peers with ease. In some ways, being Andrea's sister taught her more about broken, twisted, ruptured and deadened testes than her years of medical school.

She was also her sister's twin in one more important way. She tried to keep her head clear as she flushed involuntarily at the sight of the three damaged scrota in front of her. She was here to heal, not to hurt, no matter what her libido cried out for. Tamara focused on the job at hand; she'd have time to luxuriously pleasure herself to the memory once she got home.

The girl cuffed to the femboy slid her cuff off his wrist. "Hiii! I'm Kaitlin, and this is Felix. I swear I didn't go too hard on him—I honestly didn't even kick him, just twisted them up a bit, so I figured it wasn't a big deal, but he kept complaining about the pain so I thought I'd bring him by. You girls should be able to untangle them, right? I'll be back when you're done!" The girl walked off before they could respond, leaving her unprotected pet to crumple to the floor.

The pea-sized pair of testes dangling between his hairless, trembling loins was in bad shape, but the fix was simple. The wrinkled knot through his spermatic cords was an obvious double torsion. Specifically, it looked like eight and a half twists, counter-clockwise, with some bruising in his epididymides from his owner's thumbnail. Without treatment, his circulation would be cut off and he'd have to be castrated, but this solve was so easy surely even an intern could figure it out.

The well-hung man beside him had even more mild injuries, medically speaking, although she was sure he was in an enormous amount of pain. Tamara inspected and assessed his bruises. He'd clearly taken two fairly hard hits, which other girls had taken as an invitation for a flurry of follow-up attacks. Despite this, she could tell he wasn't even slightly ruptured; the extent of his injuries needed little more than some comforting words and an ice pack. A local anesthetic or some stronger painkillers would've been ideal, but he'd have to make do with the Tylenol.

And the third...Looked to be their first genuinely serious injury for the night. A ruptured testicle that would definitely require surgery. Tamara winced at his plight, but strangely, the man seemed to be the calmest of the three. He smiled benignly at Tamara as she ogled his injury. The stain down his jeans showed that he'd already pulsed at least, which was nice. Tamara hated when guys orgasmed on her mid-surgery.

"Hey," the owner of the halfway-destroyed ballsack chuckled. "I'm Greyson. I believe I had one of my testicles ruptured. She was very thorough; I doubt there's much left to try and save. Which one of you two lovely ladies wants to make me into a uniballer officially?"

"Can I?!" Yvette begged Tamara. "Please please please? I can totally snip him off! He's right, that thing's totally mush, let me have it! I could really use the practice with a scalpel." Greyson's easy grin wavered at Yvette's last sentence.

"Absolutely not." Tamara did not trust Yvette anywhere near a scalpel. "Take the other two to your station. These should be easy solves, Yvette; don't try anything fancy. Nobody should lose a ball in there today."

Yvette frowned with disappointment. "But I want to do the surgery..."

"Later." Tamara meant never, if she could help it, but she knew as the night went on, she would have to start triaging more severe injuries to the clueless girl. But for now, she could do better than that.

With her surgical suite relatively empty, she had time for a simple testicular extraction and cleanup. She laid the soon-to-be half-eunuch down on a medical bed and eased him behind the curtains to her improvised operating room, trying her best to ignore the growing heat and dripping wetness between her own thighs.

Yvette led the other two patients to her own curtained station.

Chapter 9: Beat Drop

Yvette frowned at her first two patients for the night. She was really disappointed she didn't get to cut open that other guy. Dr. Kastratmansen was so mean; she made a mental note to have Mom find a new, nicer mentor for her after today.

The whole monologue her boss had launched at her had mostly gone over her head, but she got the gist of it:

"Ignore whatever the patient says, and trust your own instincts no matter what".

As if she was a freshman with her first patient or something. Of course she knew to trust her own intuition over the patient's screams! That was the exact strategy that had gotten her through every internship throughout the previous six years of undergrad.

She led the boys to her two beds and put each of their legs in the stirrups, making sure to secure both their hands and their legs so they wouldn't wiggle around. She attended to the guy with milder injuries first, just like she knew was correct.

Or...the girl, it seemed. Long, soft blonde hair framed her heart-shaped face, and her tear-filled eyes and facial structure had the unmistakable shape left by years of estrogen injections. Her noodle-thin arms and petite thighs meant she'd been on E long enough for all but the last shreds of her testosterone to stick around. The only indication that she'd been born biologically male at all was her tiny penis and low-hanging, atrophied testicles.

Transgirl patients were her absolute favorite; they were so much more grateful after their surgeries than her cis guys, who always seemed so mad at her after she was done working on their genitals.

"Hello! Welcome to the medical tent. You go by she/her pronouns, I'm assuming? You've come to the right place - if you're looking for a sex change, I can lie and report that your balls are injured enough to require a....uh, snipping procedure!" Yvette was pretty sure that was the medical term.

"You won't have to go through all the difficulty of getting a recommendation. I know the medical community doesn't treat you girls the way it should; I really am happy to help you!"

The lusciously-lipped girl tore her hands away from her perfectly healthy, if minuscule, testicles and wiped her eyeliner and makeup off. "What?! No! I'm not trans, it's just...my girlfriend dresses me up like this. She thinks I look cute in a skirt. I hate it, but I love her,

so—ugh, never mind."

He pulled his miniskirt off, kicked off his heels and removed the spaghetti-strap top and bra. "Please do not cut them off. She twisted them really hard an hour or so ago. I thought I needed to come here right away, but she insisted I was fine. But they've started to hurt more and more, and it's gotten super painful. I think they're losing blood supply or...or starting to die off, or something. Can you just untwist them?"

Yvette giggled internally. She knew well enough that balls had cum inside of them, not blood! This was the kind of thing going to medical school taught you; you couldn't always trust the patients to know what they were talking about. She grabbed the tiny pair and pulled them staggeringly far away from him, eliciting a squeaky gasp from the disappointingly cisgender patient. Rolling them around, she probed for any bruising or ruptures; feeling nothing out of place, she completed her assessment.

"Your nuts don't seem bruised or popped at all! You're perfectly healthy and free to go."

He blinked in confusion. "No, it's...it's my ballcords! She twisted them! I have a double torsion, I think."

There was that funny word torsion again. Yvette recalled Dr. Kastratmansen explaining it to her, but she'd been kind of daydreaming at the time and hadn't paid too much attention. Well, if she couldn't remember it, it couldn't be that important of an injury. She rolled her eyes at his hissy fit. "Sir, I am the doctor here. I know what I'm doing. There's no such thing as 'twisted ballcords'. You're fine."

"NO I'M NOT! Please, just...undo my hands, at least! I think I can untwist them myself!"

"SIR!" She took a sterner approach. "You're being hysterical. Please calm down. If I let you touch yourself, you could turn your hallucinated injury into a real one."

"If you really think you have something I need to look at, you can wait in the stirrups until I have free time to waste on you. But I need to save this other guy's nuts first. His testicles are actually damaged."

The curvy, soft-skinned boy looked down in despair at his scrotum while she rolled her chair over to her other patient, the one with the very swollen, badly bruised ballsack. This one would take a while to heal; her "twisted balls" guy could wait out his fake injury until she was done helping the damaged gonads in front of her. Even now, Yvette could see the femboy's balls turn from a deep angry red to what she assumed was a much healthier purple color; they must be naturally healing themselves already.

The battered pair in front of her was another matter entirely. The man lying on the bed looked down at her between his knees.

"What's your name, sir?"

"Sunni."

"And what seems to be your issue today?" He stared at her.

"It's my balls. OBVIOUSLY."

"And what happened to your testicles, Sunni?"

"I got...kicked. Twice, or I guess...four times by two different girls, right at the beginning of the concert, really hard. Since then, all these other girls keep slapping and punching and kneeling me, and...I think...I think something's wrong inside of my nuts. I think I can feel something coming apart."

He looked hopefully at her. "But that other doctor said it wasn't too bad, right? That other doctor said it wasn't too hard to fix, and that I...I can keep both of them? I don't think... They hurt really badly, but I don't think they're popped."

"She's not your doctor, and you are not a doctor at all. I am, and I will determine what's wrong with them," Yvette replied tersely. She didn't need Dr. Kastratmansen overruling her, or some layperson mansplaining his own testes to her; in her own surgical ward, she was in control. And she needed to ignore his words if she was going to treat him professionally, just like she'd been advised.

Yvette grabbed the clearly ruptured testicles and began to probe them with her thumb, looking for the cracks she knew they were hiding.

"AAH!" The poor guy arched his back off the bed. "Be...be careful!"

"Sir, I need to locate the ruptures in your testicles to accurately assess their condition."

"I told you, they didn't pop....AAAAIIIIIIII!"

She found the tiny indents on each half of his manhood. Pressing her thumb in as hard as she could, she dug around, ignoring the wet popping sounds they let out until she found....

There! A crack on each side, stemming from right where her thumbs were pressed in. Yvette didn't know how she'd missed it before; it was so obvious now. Wiggling them around to examine the edges of the dents more carefully, then tracing her thumbs against the rupture, it was larger than she thought; in fact, the tiny dents were more like two deep pits, and what had first seemed like a little crack was more like a centimeter-long fissure. No, wait...two centimeters. She slid her thumbs along it, finding more and more split testicle as she went.

"WHAT THE FUCK ARE YOU DOING to my BALLS! YOU ARE TEARING THEM APART!"

"I know these assessments can be uncomfortable," she reassured him, trying to keep him calm as she discovered the full extent of the damage. Finally satisfied that she'd found the entirety of what was obviously an extremely serious, irreversible injury, she pulled her hands away from the dangling glands. She kicked herself for missing this initially: the rupture wasn't just two dimples at all! It was a crack, circling the entirety of the large organs, tracing all the way around their long axes. It was so deep, each gonad was actually nearly bisected entirely, like two halves just loosely tied together. Even she knew this was very very bad; there was only one thing she could possibly do.

But first, she needed to give her patient the bad news. "Unfortunately, sir, you seem to have suffered a pair of ruptured testicles."

"YOU JUST RUPTURED THEM! YOU FUCKING DESTROYED MY BALLS! You...you fucking tore them in half!" He was slamming his head back and forth against the headrest, trying to escape his bonds in a fit of testeria.

She ignored his outburst. "With organs this badly damaged, we have no chance of sewing them up or repairing them to even a fraction of their original functionality. We will need to operate immediately. And, I'm sorry to say this, but I will have to remove both of your testicles. I'm really sorry. I know you thought your injury wasn't this bad when you came in, but we have absolutely no choice here."

"IT WASN'T! YOU made it WORSE! OH god, LET ME HAVE THE OTHER DOCTOR! Please! Maybe she can still save them!"

"Dr. Kastratmansen is busy. I told you, I'm taking care of you today. If you ever wanted to have children, I'm afraid you've missed your..."

A lightbulb went off in her brain. The sperm freezer! She could save the guy's last sample so he could at least impregnate someone. "Oh! Actually, if you want kids, we can help you with that before the surgery! Were you planning on that?"

He was thrashing around, screaming and crying. "Sir, do you want me to save your last sperm sample?"

He calmed down just enough to hear her words. Shakily, he nodded his consent.

"Great! I'll extract your sample real quick, and then we'll get to your surgery. I really do hope you enjoy this. It will almost certainly be your last erection and orgasm, ever."

The man was sobbing wordlessly at the bad news. She took that as consent. Lubing her gloved hand up, she set to work extracting his final load, pumping his thick, uncircumcised cock. His two split balls joggled below, each half out of sync with the other, nearly creating the illusion that he had four normal-sized ones instead of two large ones. His head lolled back against the leather and he started to foam at the mouth. His eyes barely tracked hers as she continued the very important medical procedure.

Luckily, it didn't take him long to give her what she was looking for. The four independent testicular hemispheres pulled up against his pelvis, and he started to twitch as his cock spat out his extinction pulse (a term Yvette had actually learned from school!).

She quickly grabbed a nearby glass vial and angled his penis into it, making sure to keep rubbing and pleasuring his shaft and cockhead as much as she could, swirling her hand around like she did with her boyfriend. She really did want to give the poor guy one last shot at sexual pleasure, and his convulsions told her she was being very successful.

"Oh my god....It hurts...they're rubbing against each other...I can feel things coming out... for the love of fucking God how can anything possibly hurt this...guhhhh...."

His words gave out as she milked out every drop. When the vial overflowed, she pulled it back and capped it off with one hand, using her other to finish his milking.

Finally done with the pleasant part of his night, she placed the sample aside and reluctantly picked up her scalpel. His bloodshot eyes widened at the sight.

"Okay, I'm really sorry about this next part. I have a couple of Tylenol for you, but...we don't really have any anesthesia on hand. I'll try to go as fast as I can, and not make any mistakes this time."

Back on the dance floor, Andrea was really getting into the groove of the show. She was rubbing Lucas mercilessly through his jeans, and his dick was throbbing angrily; the thin fabric pressed tightly against his cocktip was starting to come dangerously close to tearing. Whenever she'd felt the throb and sudden wetness of a spurt of precum, she stopped; when he really got too close, a swift knee to his nuts did the trick of bringing him back from the edge.

One particularly intense edge went a touch too far. She kneed him in the crotch hard, and when he didn't stop quivering and leaking, followed it with another, and then another. Beneath her knee, she could feel her boyfriend's beautiful productive testicles begin to squish and spread out. But he was still shaking and moaning, still right on the edge. She slammed her knee up, as hard as she possibly could this time, not worrying about the damage she was causing, knowing he could heal from much worse. It was so great to have a guy with freak balls she could really lay into, and didn't have to worry about —

Something tore.

She looked down in horror, but was immediately relieved to see it was just fabric. His throbbing cock had finally defeated the designer jeans. The denim was too tight on him to even allow a modest pair of boxers; the formerly trapped trio of male organs poked lewdly out of the rip.

"ANDREA!" Lucas futilely tried to cover himself.

She huffed in agreement. "You tore your jeans, Lucas. Those things cost $120!"

"I know! You made me pay for them."

"Still. You shouldn't waste good pants like that! Those were probably the nicest clothes you owned." She admired the sight of his massive cock and balls and newly 'distressed' jeans. "Although that is a good look for you. Maybe you do have some fashion sense, after all." She slid her hand down his precum-slick dick, enjoying the newfound access to her favorite toys.

"Here, let's take a break from dancing and enjoy the view." She led him over to the edge of the dance floor and stood next to him, not stopping her stroking.

"Wow." They drank in the scene before them together.

As the show went on, clothes seemed to get more and more optional; Lucas wasn't the only guy with a newly fashionable pair. Lots of guys had pants torn, ripped, and gone entirely, as girls had destroyed whatever obstacles prevented them from their preferred torture methods. Andrea was very familiar with the strategy; it was hard to get her fingers dug into a screaming guy's scrotum with denim in the way.

Similarly, spaghetti straps had left shoulder blades, sometimes alone, sometimes in pairs, and panties littered the floor. Many girls were openly topless, and all were screaming and panting from the exertion of their dancing, knee strikes, and uppercuts. Others had left underwear behind to remove their other obstacle to pleasure. While guys clutched themselves and screamed in despair in the fetal position on the floor, female fingers wormed away at clitorises and into g-spots until their owners reached their own ecstatic pitch.

Lucas was shuddering, but his cock stayed stiff in her hand.

"Enjoying yourself there?" She circled his cockhead lovingly, squeezing the glans until he spurted another arc of precum, then backing off right before she went too far.

"I mean...it's horrible. Those guys don't really deserve any of it. If I went to a concert and came home missing a nut, or both, I'd be...devastated."

"Right. But you're not in any danger, are you?" She moved lower down his shaft, pumping without reaching his frenulum to avoid too much stimulation. "And you seem to enjoy it as much as us girls."

"I shouldn't...they're really getting hurt out there."

"Shouldn't? Or don't?"

He shuddered and spilled more precum down her hand. "Goddess, what the heck have you done to me?"

She grinned at his new pet name for her. "I made you mine, boy. You're right, I'm your fucking Goddess."

He looked confused. "Oh I meant...right. Of course! You're my Goddess."

Hm. Weird reaction. What was that about?

The music was loud, but the guys on the dance floor were louder; male screams of agony and loss combined into their own symphony opposing the thumping bass. One particular unfortunate victim was being held against the floor, the two lesbian women holding his hands and legs apart as a series of excited cuffed and uncuffed women lined up between his legs.

At the start of each measure of the song, one would step forward, raise her knee primly in the air, and stomp down full force on her selected testicle. Andrea could see the pair starting to spread out and lose their form as he struggled to escape. As the song reached a crescendo, one particularly curvy woman held herself on top, grinding back and forth as the annoyed one behind her waited her turn until she abruptly dropped down a bit. His screams went even higher, and she stepped off him at last triumphantly. Half of his scrotum puddled limply between his legs as the next girl worked to carefully balance herself on his remaining testicle.

Lucas shuddered in her grasp. Then, suddenly...

She felt something hit her hand from below. She looked between his legs to find a boot thrust up into Lucas, crushing his balls against her hand. Andrea saw red.

"GUHHH!" He let out a gasp, and started to spurt from the sudden burst of agony and pressure upon his balls. Andrea spun around furiously, turning Lucas with her and continuing to stroke, making sure the bitch who just violated her was directly in his line of fire.

"Oh!" The blonde looked guiltily at Andrea's cuff. The girl's own cuff led to a completely nude meek-looking man beside her. The crescent-shaped bruises across his ballsack looked suspiciously like bite marks. "I didn't see your cuff, I'm sorry—ACK!"

Lucas's first massive blast plastered her chest; Andrea angled him up vindictively so his second covered her face. The girl gasped, then gagged as the third thick string of semen went down her throat.

Andrea wordlessly finished jerking off her boyfriend. His knees were turning together, and he was moaning as he clutched his swollen balls, but Andrea pulled every drop out of him and made sure it went directly on the bimbo before giving in to her rage.

Failing to defend your pet at a Pop! show wasn't just a matter of pride. If she didn't make it clear she took her ownership seriously, other women would take it as an open invitation to do the same. Already, she could see some staring avariciously between Lucas's legs, noticing that he had the largest pair on the dance floor by a mile and curious to see what busting them would be like.

They weren't going to find out if Andrea could help it.

"These are my balls," she said, her voice terrifyingly level. "I fucking own him. NOBODY touches my man but me."

"Okay, sorry. Jeez. It was an honest mistake." Andrea didn't know or care if that was true. She needed to get revenge. Now.

Without thinking, she walked up to the cringing man beside the bimbo, dragging Lucas behind her, and kicked him in the nuts as hard as she could. The guy choked and fell to his knees.

"Hey! Those are mine! Don't let her pop your nuts, Trinn, I'm saving them for later!" the girl shrieked. Andrea ignored her. All she could think of was revenge. She sent toe kick after toe kick into the man's crotch, focusing solely on his singularly large right one. He begged for help from his supposed protector.

"Emma, please! FUCK! I can feel it breaking, I can feel it GOD EMMA PLEASE FUCKING HELP ME—"

Emma tried to get in between them, but Andrea shoved her aside with ease. When he collapsed to the floor entirely, Andrea raised her heel as high as she could and brought it directly down — — to a rupturously effective thud, pinning the massive, now misshapen nut between her full weight and the ground. The organ squicked away, its loose innards violently ejected into his scrotum, and the man let out a shrill scream before passing out.

"HEY!!! What the fuck!" The bimbo was mad for real now. "I only kicked your guy once! And you fucking pop mine? And you took his bigger one?! I was saving that nut for the finale!"

"Too bad." Andrea growled. "You've still got leftie. Touch my man again and I'll take that too."

The girl was still fuming, but clearly unwilling to risk losing her last ball. She walked away, dragging her pet's unconscious body by the cuff to the medical tent.

"I thought...you only ruptured guys who deserved it." Lucas wheezed.

Reality set in, and Andrea felt guilty. She hadn't truly meant to go that far; one kick would have been enough to ward other girls away. But seeing her man attacked by another girl set off something inside her she didn't know she had. It was more than just a warning for other girls: she needed to keep Lucas all to herself. He was completely hers, and she fucking loved that. A kick to his nuts from another girl was like...it felt more like watching someone try to seduce her man than watching them attack him. Hell, given the fetish she'd induced in him, a swift kick to his nuts was basically flirting with the nerd.

Nobody fucking flirted with her man. Nobody fucking touched her man.

While it was ethically dubious, popping an undeserving guy was...very interesting to the part of her unconcerned with ethics. She hadn't taken a nut from someone who didn't deserve it for years (not that deserving men were rare). Her pussy drenched at the agonizing sight of the half-eunuch unconscious, jackknifing on the ground, hands still clenched around an organ that barely existed anymore.

Still, that innocent guy didn't deserve to lose a ball. The pop had been bad, but she hadn't ground it into mush; maybe Tamara would be able to help him keep a full pair.

Tamara rolled up her sleeves, snapped a pair of gloves on, and inspected the half-crushed sack of the man splayed before her. His lascivious grin was very off-putting, and he was staring at her like he recognized her from somewhere.

"I think it's just the left one," he informed her.

He was correct, but his tone was unnervingly calm. "Are you...okay, sir?"

He laughed, and she could see the tears of pain forming in his eyes. "I mean, I guess not. I'm in more agony than I thought possible, and one of my balls was turned into peanut butter. But it was really everything I hoped for. I've been dreaming of this for so long, and...I came so fucking hard. God, it hurts so good."

"Oh." A pervert. Great. "This was...consensual?"

"Hell yeah, I definitely consented." He grinned. "Even with post-nut clarity setting in, I regret nothing. So...you have to cut it out now, right? You'll numb me up, and when I wake up I'll be a uniballer for life? Are you ready to be the girl who makes me half a man?" His penis was starting to stir to life, and he managed nearly a half-erection; incredibly impressive for a man who'd just had a testicle painfully ruptured. Tamara supposed it was easier to manage a boner through the pain when it was so tiny.

"I'm glad you're taking this so well, I suppose. That's almost correct, sir, but unfortunately we have no anesthesia on site."

She handed him three pills and some water, trying to ignore the new wetness between her legs at the sight of his halfway-destroyed manhood. There was no need to focus on the fact that she was the one who got to transform him from a full man. She was a professional. A doctor. This was not the time for those thoughts.

Greyson's eyes grew wide. "What did you say?"

She snapped back to reality. "I'm sorry. I'll remove your left testicle and tie your cord off, but you're going to have to feel everything. The painkillers...might help a little." She winced. "I'll go fast."

"No." His enthusiasm was gone. "Oh fuck, I just...I just wanted the pop. I don't want to feel you actually cut me."

"If you can withstand the pain of a ruptured testicle, a few scrotal slices won't be so bad in comparison. Now I really need to start, or this could get much worse for you. You do want to keep your remaining testicle, correct? You just fantasized about a halfstration, not a complete castration?" He nodded slowly, the reality setting in.

"Like I said, I'll be quick. May I start?" He nodded again, and started sobbing as she cut into him.

True to her word, she moved swiftly, making a neat slit and draining the remains of his left nut into her surgical tray. Scraping everything out, she quickly tied off his dangling cord and stitched him up cleanly. To his credit, his screams were relatively minimal through what must have been excruciating pain. When she finished, she was very out of breath. And sweaty. And blushing.

"It's...it's done," she said huskily, holding up the surgical tray so he could see it. He stared at the remains.

Then...he met her eyes. Her twitching, half-lidded eyes. And she realized he realized...

"Oh my god." His smug grin returned, even through his tear-stained face. "You're getting off on this."

"Sir, I am a doctor." Tamara couldn't keep her voice level.

"Holy fuck...I just got my ball removed by a — girl who — who fucking enjoyed it. Oh my god. You took my ball. You took my ball, and you gushed all over yourself while you did it, and I'll be a half-man forever, and...and...AHHH! JESUS!" His dick surged to its modest hardest, and four throbbing inches of pervert dick spewed a premature load onto his soft white belly. Even without stimulation, he screamed in joy, his tongue lolling out with pleasure. He bucked and panted, clearly on a level of ecstasy he'd never experienced, until he finished emptying the tiny load he'd been storing in his undersized remaining testicle.

"Oh Jesus. This was fucking amazing. Thank you so much."

"You're welcome," she said sarcastically. Even her pussy was annoyed; nothing was more of a turn-off than when a man actually enjoyed being hurt.

She got to work immediately scraping his load into a vial and placing it in the first slot of the empty tray; he'd barely managed to fill half of a single vial. Her ten trays for semen samples had a hundred slots each; she hoped a thousand samples was enough for the night. And she knew he'd likely be back later that night without the ability to collect a sample — Tamara would do him the kindness of saving this one.

Thank god for the onsite freezer too. The average seminal liquefaction period was fifteen to thirty minutes; if they stayed at room temperature for longer than that, his sperm would be permanently dead.

"Alright, I'm...heading home now."

"Um," Tamara said awkwardly. "The concert has two hours left."

"I'm done. I'm not risking my last nut out there." Greyson smiled, his desires well-satiated as true post-nut clarity set in with his second orgasm of the night. "I don't even like this band."

"So...you don't know their rules? The doors are locked until the end."

His eyes widened in panic.

"No. I...I can't stay here."

"Well, sir, I'm afraid you're stuck. I'm sorry, sir. I'm just the doctor. I don't make the rules here."

"Two hours?! They'll take my other ball! I need to leave." Sweat trickled down his brow.

"Seriously. I need to get the fuck out. I've read about...how these concerts end. Even I'm not that kinky. Please help me leave! I don't have a chance."

"...you might get lucky," Tamara lied. Truthfully, she'd rarely seen fetishists leave with anything solid in their scrotum.

"FUCK!"

Tamara eased him out of the chair and led him hobbling out of the tent onto the dance floor. She grimaced at the kaleidoscope of white and pink stains starting to form across the venue's floor, each a grim reminder commemorating the end of a gonad, if not a manhood. She was sure Greyson's last ball would make its own commemoration by the end of the night.

Tamara tried not to moan while imagining the regret and despair on his face when he returned after that.

She needed to cool off; she had enough to deal with in the tent. Tamara suddenly realized she hadn't heard from Yvette since she'd given her those two really easy patients. She figured she should check in and see who else she'd taken care of while Tamara had been doing all of the surgical work. That should distract her from her darker urges.

Chapter 10: Crescendo

"Okay, whew. That's two popped balls already, Lucas. This show is crazy," Andrea casually slammed a knee into her boyfriend's pair before he could respond. She interpreted his pained gurgles as an accusation.

"Oh, calm down. It was from two different guys, and they'll both be fine. Yeah, Trinn was an accident and didn't really deserve it, but he'll be fine with one testicle in his sack."

Lucas found his voice, albeit an octave higher.

"...Sure. I mean...It still hurts like heck to have a ball popped, Andrea."

"How would you know?" She grinned, gently rolling his nuts around in her hand. "Want to find out? I'm sure my sister would be happy to meet you again. She's got her whole medical station set up back there. You could lie down in her medical bed, feet in the air on some stirrups as she snips off whatever you have of, let's say..." she pressed her thumb into half of her handful, "...leftie."

"...no! No, it's fine."

"That's what I thought. Now, are you as thirsty as I am?"

"Not really, but—" Lucas yelped as she started off towards the bartender, dragging him by the cuff.

"You're ordering. Get me a Grey Goose martini, super dry, extra dirty, shaken until it's freezing cold, with four bleu cheese olives and the shaker ice in a glass on the side. And whatever you want."

"...What?"

She backhanded him in the nuts. "Did your balls get stuck in your ears or something? I said: Grey Goose martini, super dry, extra dirty, shaken super hard so it's freezing cold, with four bleu cheese olives and the shaker ice in a glass on the side. And whatever you want." She sent him off with another affectionate punch to his baby-makers, and followed him to the bar, staying behind his very slow, delicate, pigeon-toed steps.

The bartender was a buxom, older blond woman, in the process of wiping something off the bar. Lucas guessed it was the last remaining evidence that one of the poor guys in the medical tent had been born with a full ballsack.

"What do you want, boy?"

He was concentrating too hard to get the order right to notice Andrea lining up her boot between his legs behind him. "Uh, I want...a Grey Goose...martini, super dry, with extra olives - HURK!"

Her kick slammed into his balls, tearing the little fabric that still held his pants together. "Wrong. Try again." The bartender waited impatiently with one eyebrow raised.

He shakily got to his feet and tried again, searching his memory for her wording. "A Grey Goose martini...super dry, super dirty, shaken until it's cold — GUH!"

Another nutcrushing blow sent him to the floor again. "Extra dirty, and ice cold. Try again, bitch."

"GREY GOOSE MARTINI, SUPERDRY EXTRADIRTY SHAKENUNTILITSFREEZING—" He was going as fast as he could, clearly hoping Andrea wouldn't notice any mistakes. She kicked him extra hard for the failed deception.

"Don't try that shit again — speak slowly, so I can punish you properly when you fuck up."

The bartender sighed loudly. "Sir, can you please just make up your fucking mind? I have a lot of customers tonight."

"SORRY..." he squeaked from the fetal position on the ground. Shakily grabbing hold of the edge of the bar with one hand, the other desperately feeling up his testicles to make sure they were each still in one piece, he lifted himself up and tried one more time. He normally had a nearly eidetic memory, but the pain was making her words blur together.

"Grey Goose martini. Super...dirty—"

"EXTRA dirty." Thud-crunch.

"Grey martini—"

"Grey GOOSE." Crunch-squick.

"Grey Goose Martini. Extra dirty. Super dry. Shaken hard so it's freezing cold." He cringed, waiting for his gorgeous girlfriend to lower his sperm count with her boot once again, but Andrea let him continue. "...with the shaker ice on the side. And...three bleu cheese olives." His eyes went wide. "No, FOUR—" squinted at the menu of themed drinks in the dim light. "And a...Neutered Negroni for him. No, wait, a Popped Plum Punch."

The bartender got to work while Lucas curled up on the floor like a prawn, twitching and spurting streaks of sticky seed beside the dozens of other stains on the floor. Andrea turned around, smirking at the man in line for a drink behind her, noticing his uncuffed wrists.

"Sorry for the wait!" She cheerily kneed him in the balls as hard as she could, feeling the smallish orbs flatten between her thigh and his bony pelvis, leaving the stranger coughing miserably on the floor. The feeling of power through male pain sent another giddy rush of excitement through her. She couldn't wait to get home and fuck Lucas's brains out again. She took their finished drinks from the bartender and dragged Lucas to his feet and back to the dance floor.

Finally finished with her most successful surgery yet, Yvette looked back at her work, satisfied. Sunni had the good sense to pass out partway through the procedure, and without his squirming and writhing, it had gone quickly and easily. Her few dozen stitches weren't quite as neat as the examples she'd been looking at online mid-operation, but she was sure they'd hold.

She had no idea how those doctors got them all neat and tiny and in a row like that; her stitching criss-crossed and doubled back over itself, as she'd had to fix bits that came undone at the beginning before she got to the end. Sometimes, she'd poked her needle in too far from the actual slit in his scrotum, resulting in an overly large stitch that pinched the skin together awkwardly; other times, she'd gotten too close, tearing right through the paper-thin flesh and forcing her to create additional, unnecessary holes.

Still, it was like Dr. Kastratmansen said: You couldn't always just go by the book. Yvette was truly proud of herself; the empty scrotum before her proved that she had what it took to be a real doctor. She wheeled herself over to the less injured man she'd left waiting.

During her surgery, she'd been responsible enough to occasionally glance at the femboy's ballsack to make sure it was recovering correctly. She'd been happy to see the pair heal from purple, to blue, to black, to their final, current healthy shade of dull gray. This was the kind of real-world learning experience she'd been hoping for: no classroom had ever given her a chance to see a slightly bruised pair of testicles repair themselves all the way back to perfect health in real time.

"How are you feeling? Are your balls still bothering you?"

The hairless, noodle-limbed boy had a hollow look on his face. "...No. They...they don't hurt anymore. They're completely numb now. They hurt before, then they felt really hot, then really cold, and now...they're just numb."

"That's perfect! It's a bit drafty in here, I do apologize for the temperature. But it looks like you're all set now!" She fondled his balls; they were, in fact, freezing. Odd, but probably nothing to worry about.

Suddenly, her boss waltzed in like she owned the place. Ugh.

Tamara's jaw dropped at the horror scene before her.

On the left, a completely oxygen-starved pair of balls were drooping nearly to the floor. She could barely see their impressions through the scrotal skin as the peas had shriveled even smaller; they were so tiny, a less experienced doctor might've thought they were already clipped off. On the right, what had been no more than a badly bruised scrotum was now an empty scrap of flesh. Even she had a hard time telling that it was void of its contents, because it was knotted together in the most incompetent stitching job she'd ever seen. She'd had an embroidery ring when she was nine; she remembered doodling shaky, semilinear renditions of daisies. This looked less professional than that.

"Finished!" Yvette was beaming at her proudly like a cat who'd just laid two dead mice at her door.

"Yvette." Tamara tried to keep her voice steady, even as her libido chose that exact wrong moment to luxuriate in the two eunuchs before her, flushing her with arousal. "Get out."

"...What? I did a good job."

"...Get out. Now."

Yvette left the curtained-off 'room', pouting as she went. Tamara didn't have time to worry about her hissy fit; she needed to do what little she could to help these two poor former men.

The stitched-up eunuch was still passed out, so she tended to the skinny boy with the twisted ballsack first.

There was no doubt about it: his nuts had been dead for a while now. They were basically bloodless enough when he had walked in; Tamara figured even if she'd untwisted them immediately, he would have been sterile for at least a month while they worked to regenerate their little swimmers. Now...The effects would be much more permanent.

"Hello, Felix," she said, rolling between his legs and glancing at his chart (which Yvette had failed to fill out beyond his first name). She tried to look as sympathetic as she could while keeping her moans to herself.

"Are you...are you a real doctor?!" He whispered desperately.

"Of course. I'm going to take a look at your scrotum and testicles."

"Can you please...please untwist them?"

Her stomach dropped when she touched the ice cold pair. "I'm afraid not."

"Please...they're dying..."

"Sir, they're not dying. They're dead. I'm sorry. They've been without blood for too long," she winced in anticipation at his reaction, but he just dropped his head.

"Goddamnit. I knew it. I could've...I kept asking her to help. She wouldn't help. Why wouldn't she help me? She's a doctor, but she just...just popped that guy's balls and snipped them off while I begged her."

Tamara's rage and arousal grew with every word. Had Yvette seriously just let this manhood pointlessly, slowly wither away while she conducted a completely unnecessary double orchiectomy on her other patient? How could any one person be so incompetent?! How could she have let this intern touch any medical equipment?

How could she ignore the burning, aching desire to drop her clipboard, strip her scrubs off, and fuck herself silly while staring at the pair of ruined manhoods?!

"I'm truly sorry to hear that. I...I'll need to operate. On both of your testicles," she was shaking. "You'll — ah — have some side effects after they are removed. Natural reproduction will be — HNNNGH — totally impossible, and erections —"

"I know erections won't be an issue," he said bitterly. "I haven't gotten hard in three years."

"When we met, I didn't look like this. I...I had a six-pack. My balls were the size of chicken eggs, and my cock was like...almost down to my knees. I had biceps. I worked out. I was a fucking quarterback in college."

"We hit it off so fast — I fell, hard. She said she liked my personality, but...she had a kink she wanted to try. A scary one. I agreed. When she explained what ballbusting was, I didn't think it was so bad. I'd gotten hit in the nuts before; it hurt, but I could stand it. I thought I could stand anything for her."

"But she went harder than I thought possible. She'd slam her knee into me at random, in public, full force, stomp with heels, press her thumb in, twist them more than I could count...She loved twisting them. And...they started to shrink." He inhaled shakily.

She tried her best to listen to his story, her mouth hanging half open and eyes starting to flutter with arousal, grateful he was too focused on telling it to notice her reaching her edge.

"I noticed it a year in. My dick seemed just a little softer than usual, even when I was cumming. I went to my doctor, and she confirmed it: my testosterone and sperm count were down. Just a bit, but definitely lower than before. I didn't tell my girlfriend, because I didn't want to worry her. No...I didn't want to lose her."

"But she just kept going farther and farther. One day, I woke up with this...this green rubber band around my ballsack. She said she'd used some tool to put it on in the early morning, then fallen back asleep. She didn't know when. It could've been an hour before I woke up...or five." He shuddered. "They were a lot smaller after that, and I couldn't get... get the tip to get stiff anymore. Like, the shaft would be mostly hard, but the last quarter would stay limp. My doctor told me I'd lost more than half of my hormones and sperm from that alone."

"I finally told her...what I was going through. How I was down to like, 30% of the manliness I'd had at the beginning. And she told me...she knew. She said taking away my manhood was her favorite part of the 'kink'. She said that she'd always wanted a femboy boyfriend, ever since she'd done this prank on her brother and saw the effect it had on him, and I had the perfect personality for it. Like, because I was so strong, and masculine, it was...even more of a turn on for her to take that away from me."

"I felt so betrayed. She'd known what she was doing to me the whole time, and she was getting off to it. But at that point...I'd lost so much, it felt like a waste if I left her. I still loved her."

"My last erection...I remember it. I think about it a lot. I'd lost a lot of hardness by that point, but could still manage something. She was...rubbing me, and I was nearly halfway hard. It was more of a boner than I'd had in months."

"And right as I came...She punched me, again. I knew it was coming, she usually punched me while she jerked me off, but this time I swear she went extra hard. I had to go to the hospital, and they confirmed I'd lost even more testicular matter and...sperm production. After I got home, I could never manage to even get it to twitch again."

"After that, she finally started to ease up. She promised to let me keep enough sperm to have kids. I still have around 1% of the hormones and fertility I started our relationship with. It's enough. It would've been enough to get her pregnant."

"...Sir—"

"I fucking KNOW it's gone now!" He shouted, then took a deep breath. "I'm sorry, I know it's not your fault I'm...a eunuch." He could barely get the word out. "That fucking bitch... she didn't even try. Just tried to gaslight me into thinking they weren't hurt."

Tamara nodded silently, biting her lip.

"...So yeah, I know you have to cut them off now. Just...let me take a second to mourn them."

She lost control, just for a second. Rubbing her slick legs together, Tamara hit a tiny crest in her pleasure, and allowed herself the quick, silent climax. It relieved a bit of the tension.

He was still leaning back in the chair with his eyes closed when Tamara inched forward toward his sack. Carefully, without alerting him, she pulled out the elastrator and loaded the bands on. Sliding it onto his scrotum as quickly and quietly as she had ever worked, she slid another one on while he stared at the ceiling, tears tracking down his cheeks. The second band went on seconds later. Finally, she unwrapped her scalpel and slid it quickly through.

Finally, he looked down at her. "Okay, I'm ready, you can start...oh." He stared at what she was holding.

His grey ballsack swung in front of her guilty expression, totally disconnected from his body. Its top was neatly pinched off, professionally and totally bloodless.

"I'm sorry, it's easiest if you're distracted, and you consented..."

"No, it's okay, that's...thanks." He was crying, but seemed to be gathering himself as best he could. "I really didn't feel it at all."

She had done perfectly. He would heal up fine. The other patient...

The other patient could wait. Just for a minute. It wouldn't take her more than a minute.

"I need to go to the bathroom." She placed his balls on the surgical tray and rushed out of the makeshift OR, past her intern playing on her phone. "Yvette, just...sit tight. Don't treat anyone else."

Tamara rushed into a stall and locked the door. Slipping her scrubs off as fast as she could, she pulled out her bullet vibe and set it to its maximum setting. Forcing the angrily buzzing little toy into her clitoris as hard as she could, she vividly fantasized about the most stimulating part of her shift; she needed to get through this as fast as possible in order to save more nuts from Yvette's talents.

The medically necessary halfstration she'd performed. The completely unnecessary castration and, it sounded like, double rupture Yvette had inflicted on Sunni. The femboy's story of his gradual emasculation came to mind especially vividly. His obvious tortured expression, his story of frequent and constant testicular torture, the vision of his balls gradually loosening and deforming as his girlfriend gleefully wrecked them, over and over, inside and out. The extra eunuch sitting to her side, his testicles gone for no reason other than he'd gotten unlucky enough to have Yvette treat him instead of her. The face Felix made when he saw her holding his—

GUH. She convulsed and gushed all over her toy. It had been a tight 20 seconds.

Riding out the aftershocks of her orgasm as quickly as she could, biting the inside of her cheek to stay quiet, Tamara finally found relief. Wiping herself off and washing her hands, she headed back to the medical tent as quickly as she could, before Yvette could mess anything else up.

Yvette frowned. Her boss was taking forever! She was so bored, waiting around with no clients to take care of.

Suddenly Kaitlin stepped into the tent. She froze mid-step at the sight of her nutless boyfriend.

Yvette waved distractedly. "Oh. Hi. You're his girlfriend?"

She was speechless. "What did you do..."

Yvette shrugged. "Honestly, I'm not really sure. I thought he was fine, but my boss insisted on snipping his balls off. She's gone now, so...can I help you?"

The girl couldn't take her eyes off the empty space between Felix's hairless legs. The tiny green band wrapped around its nub was all that remained of his testicles. His small dick hung limply to the left of it, not even large enough to reach past it. Finally, she seemed to get a grip on herself as the reality of his castration sank in at last.

She grinned.

"So...He doesn't have nuts anymore? His dick will shrink even more? And his voice..."

"Yup, it'll get all high-pitched too. Er, even more so."

"Oh my god, she removed his ballsack too. I hated that thing. It was so wrinkly, and stretched out from when he used to have big balls. And now...He's so smooth down there." Kaitlin squealed with delight.

"He can fit into my panties without anything hanging out! Or some EunuchCorn booty shorts!"

"Uh...Sure." Yvette was still in a sour mood; she needed to have a serious talk with Dr. Kastratmansen when she got back.

"Can I see them?"

"Hm? Oh, here." Yvette plucked the tiny ballbag out of the surgical tray.

"...Can I keep them?"

"Uh...Yeah, I don't see why not." Yvette plopped it into the smallest jar she had and filled it to the brim with rubbing alcohol. With the lid tightly sealed, she handed them over to the grinning girl. "Anything else? I think he's good to go now — looks like that band takes care of everything, and I guess he'll heal up or whatever."

"Yeah, he looks perfect to me. Hey, come on!" She slapped her former femboy right on the pinched-off nub where his testicles used to hang, and he stirred awake with a scream.

"Let's go! The concert's getting to my favorite part."

He was groggy and miserable, but he managed to slide out of the bed as his girlfriend undid his cuffs. Instinctively, he reached to his crotch, then his hand darted back like he'd touched a hot stove. He didn't seem ready to deal with his new reality yet.

His girlfriend cuffed one of his thin wrists to hers and led him out of the medical tent, holding the jar containing his testicles in the other.

Tamara got back and saw the missing patient. "...Did you do something, Yvette?"

"His girlfriend just came back for him. You trust me to sign a patient out at least, right?" She spat back, not realizing she'd forgotten to sign him out. "He was all finished, so I gave her his balls and let them go."

"...you did what?!"

"I packed his testicles into a jar with alcohol, and..."

"...why. What standard of care mandates that you give random medical waste to guests when they ask for it? It's a...a HIPAA violation, an ethical violation, a...just, why." She was technically right, although Tamara didn't mention that she'd been planning on taking the two trophies home herself, for...personal time.

"You said they were already dead! I didn't see the big deal."

The doctor sighed and looked at the remaining stitched-up ex-man. "Did you at least collect a sample from this eunuch before your 'surgery'?"

"Yup! I left it right over there." She pointed to the little vial lying on the nearby desk. Tamara stared in despair at it.

"When did you take the sample, Yvette?"

"Um...about an hour ago, maybe an hour and a half?" Tamara picked it up; its contents were completely clear. 100% liquefaction. It had needed to go in the freezer right away, like she had fucking reminded Yvette at the beginning of the shift. She sighed even deeper, and tossed the worthless vial of dead sperm away. Its producer, who was still strapped to his stirrups and now barely conscious, let out a pathetic whimper when he heard it shatter against the bottom of the medical waste bin.

"Yvette...we need to talk."

"Yeah, we do, Tamara." Yvette looked pissed.

Tamara ignored the unprofessional slight, took a deep breath, and prepared her honest feedback.

"You are the most incompetent intern I've ever seen. Not just incompetent, but thoughtless, arrogant, clumsy, forgetful—"

"I'm going to call my mom." The young girl looked back at her smugly as Tamara stopped mid-sentence.

"What does your mother have to do with anything?"

"Well, she owns this venue. And this band's label. And the hospital. And your medical school. And just about every politician in county and state politics. I could take away your medical degree."

"You mean my medical license."

"Shut up!" Yvette shouted through gritted teeth. "I've been doing a good job! I've been working my hardest, helping my patients, and you keep...you keep cutting me down and discouraging me. I've had enough!"

Tamara was frozen. She wanted to smack sense into the girl; she also knew she was telling the truth. Over Easy practically wrote its own laws in this country. Her mother could destroy her life if she wanted.

"So...Do you want to keep micromanaging me, or do you want to keep your career?"

Tamara sighed.

"Fine. Just...please be careful."

"I always am!" Yvette replied cheerily.

Until next time

You made it to the end. Hopefully your gonads are more functional than the ones you just read about.

I love hearing from readers. Whether you've got feedback, a request, an oddly specific scenario you've been dying to see written, a unformatted wall of text meticulously describing each and every ballbusting fantasy you've ever masturbated to, or just want to correct all of my typos, drop me a line.

Email boozlejam@gmail.com

Discord preunbb#8470

Reddit u/preunbb

— Preun